PENN DAY IS OBSERVED BY H.S. STUDENTS

Students in Adams county high schools celebrated Tuesday the 300th anniversary of the birthday of William Penn with special exercises at which each school planted a hemlock, the Pennsylvania state tree.

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, president of the Adams County Historical society and head of the history department at Gettysburg college, delivered the dedicatory remarks in connection with the tree planting at the Gettysburg high school. In the program under the auspices of the Local History club at the high school, the tree was planted by the club officers. President Norman Rasmussen, Vice-President Walter Keeney, Secretary Barbara Johnson and Treasurer Cornelius Knorr.

The exercises opened with a selection by the high school band under the direction of Edwin S. Longenecker and Doris Gilin read the governor's Penn Day proclamation. Janice Sachs sang "Pennsylvania" and Doctor Fortenbaugh reviewed the life of William Penn and told of the characteristics of the founder of Pennsylvania.

Doctor Fortenbaugh spoke of Penn as "the greatest of the founders of any of the American colonies. He was the apostle not only of religious liberty, but also of political liberty and of peace."

The history department head pointed out that not only had Penn founded Pennsylvania, but he also colonized Delaware and a part of New Jersey.

Arrangements for the celebration were directed by Miss Louise Ramer, faculty advisor for the history club.

Other High Schools

At the Fairfield high school, the exercises were begun in the school auditorium where six members of the freshman English civics class read essays they had written on the life and citizenship of Penn. Those reading the essays were Mary Izer, Thomas Sanders, Joseph Topper, Betty Hiner, Janet Sties and Dorothy Jean McClellan.

Following the program in the auditorium, the student body went. (Please turn to Page 2)

125,000 AUTO OWNERS FAIL TO ASK "A" BOOKS

Approximately 125,000 car owners in the Harrisburg 10-county district have failed to date to file applications for the new basic "A" gasoline ration books, despite repeated reminders, and may find themselves without rationing when the November 9 validity date rolls around, W. C. Young, acting director of the Harrisburg district OPA office, announced today.

A checkup of the 24 War Price and Rationing boards in this district has revealed that there has been only about a 40 per cent issuance of "A" books up to the present time although motorists have been urged repeatedly in the press and on the radio to act at once.

Records of last October's "A" book registration show that there were about 209,000 books issued in this 10-county area. Local boards report only approximately 83,600 car owners have received their new "A" ration books thus far.

Mailing New Books

Director Young emphasizes that the "A" books now in use are invalid on November 8 and motorists who do not apply for their new books by October 31 cannot be assured of receiving their new ration books by November 9.

Passenger car owners are urged to secure application blanks immediately at service stations, garages, or War Price and Rationing Boards, and to mail or take the form completely filled out to their local boards, together with the signed back cover of their present "A" books.

Boards are mailing new "A" books to motorists as fast as applications are received and it is hoped that a last minute rush will be averted by prompt action on the part of all car owners.

County Soldier Is Wounded In France

Mrs. Bertha Creager, Fairfield R. 1, received a War department telegram Tuesday informing her that her son, T. Sgt. Charles Creager, was slightly wounded in France on October 2.

Sergeant Creager has two brothers serving in the armed forces. Paul Creager is in North Carolina and Robert is stationed in the state of Washington.

716 MILITARY BALLOTS ARE ON FILE HERE

Indications pointed today to a soldier vote of more than 1000 in this county—possibly much more than that figure—as the county commissioners' office reported this morning that 716 marked ballots already have been returned. November 22 is the counting date for the military votes and the last day on which they may be accepted. They must be postmarked not later than November 7, however.

Under the provisions of the Pennsylvania military ballot law, the county commissioners' office here mailed out a total of 2,517 ballots to men and women in the service.

The list of names was compiled by Civilian Defense corps members in all parts of the county months ago. Men in the service did not have to apply for ballots.

A state-wide tabulation showed Franklin county mailed 3,832 military ballots and has received 939. In York county 9,557 ballots were sent out and 3,118 have been returned.

200,000 In State

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP) — A Pennsylvania soldier vote of 200,000 or more was indicated today by a survey of county election boards now receiving sealed military ballots for counting on November 22.

Reports from all 67 counties showed a total of 644,305 ballots mailed out and 182,271 returned. Only from Mercer county was there no report of ballots returned and the figures from a number of other counties lacked those received in the last few days.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, which gave President Roosevelt slightly more than his state-wide majority of 281,000 four years ago, accounted for almost 30,000 of the soldier votes already received.

Under Pennsylvania's military voting law, no application was required for ballots, which were mailed starting in September to all members of the armed forces whose addresses could be obtained. The law provides that when an application is made it must be received before Nov. 7. Marked ballots may be returned until the counting date but must bear a date not later than November 7.

PRINCETON WAS LAUNCHED IN '43

Philadelphia, Oct. 25 (AP)—The USS Princeton, light carrier sunk after an engagement with the Japanese fleet off the Philippines, was built at the New York Shipbuilding company yards at nearby Camden, N. J.

The vessel was launched Oct. 23, 1942, and commissioned at the Philadelphia Navy Yard on Feb. 23, 1943. Her sponsor was Mrs. Harold Dodds, wife of the president of Princeton university.

"She is the first of her class to be sunk and the seventh U. S. carrier to be sent down in the course of the war," the Fourth Naval District said.

"The others were the old Hornet, Wasp, Yorktown, and Lexington, all sunk in early phases of the war, and the CVE's or escort carriers Liscomb Bay and Block Island, both sent down more recently.

"Sinking of the Princeton marks the first announced loss of a U. S. fleet unit of any size in nearly a year. The entire European and Pacific invasions were carried out without the loss of any combatant ships larger than destroyers."

WAGNER FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. Sadie Wallace Wagner, formerly of Adams county, who died in York Monday, will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bender funeral home with the Rev. Darrel F. Stone, pastor of the Poplar Street Church of God, York, of which Mrs. Wagner was a member, officiating.

8 Other Warships Hit; U. S. Light Carrier Is Sunk

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 25 (AP)—Carrier planes of the U. S. Third Fleet have sunk a large Japanese carrier, damaged two other large carriers, five or six battleships, one cruiser and several other unidentified warships in a great three-pronged naval battle which is still continuing near the Philippines.

The U.S.S. Princeton, a light carrier in Admiral William F. Halsey's force, was lost when, already badly crippled, her magazines exploded and she had to be sunk by American ships.

Japs Lose 150 Planes

No mention was made in the 1:30 a. m. communique issued by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz of any great sea battle between American fleet units and the Japanese fleet, as claimed by the Japanese radio since late yesterday.

The Tokyo radio has admitted the loss of two cruisers and a destroyer in the action while claiming to have sunk 11 ships and damaged 5 others.

The Princeton's captain and 1,360 of her officers and men were rescued.

In addition to the fleet units sunk or damaged, the Japanese lost 150 planes.

Action Started Monday

The actions began Monday afternoon (U. S. time) extended throughout Tuesday and general "action is continuing," Nimitz said.

Nimitz said a strong force of land-based Japanese planes attacked one U. S. task group Monday and succeeded in seriously damaging the Princeton, which is the first American carrier lost since the Liscombe Bay went down in flames off the Marshall Islands in early December 1943.

Approximately 150 of these enemy planes were shot down during the attack, Nimitz said.

Besides the captain, 133 other officers and 1,227 enlisted men were saved. The complement of the light (jeep) carrier is not listed but probably is around 1,500.

Attempted Surprise

The Japanese—obviously attempting a surprise three pronged attack which they hoped would catch Halsey's force concentrating on Japanese battleships and cruisers in the Sibuyan and Sulu seas—sent a third force from Formosa.

This group included at least three carriers. However there was no indication in the communique that any Japanese carrier planes were launched against the Third fleet which possibly achieved surprise instead in its crippling attack on the imperial navy ships.

It was from this carrier force that adm. Marc A. Mitscher's planes sank "at least one large carrier and severely damaged two others."

Discovered by Planes

Nimitz said reports of this carrier action south of Formosa yet are incomplete, indicating the third fleet may have inflicted additional severe damage upon the enemy.

The actions began Monday. Carrier search planes discovered two enemy forces heading eastward through the Sibuyan and Sulu seas, ostensibly intending to bombard Gen. Douglas MacArthur's ground forces on Leyte island.

One force consisted of three or four battleships, ten cruisers and about 13 destroyers.

Many Jap Ships Hit

Repeated attacks by carrier aircraft indicate that every battleship was damaged by bombs, that at least one was torpedoed and one cruiser was torpedoed.

The second force was sighted southwest of Negros island in the Sulu sea in the southwestern Philippines. It consisted of two battleships, one cruiser and four destroyers.

Both battleships were damaged by bombs and the light units were strafed.

There was no hint in the communique whether the Japanese battleships were of the older, slower classes or their new heavily armed and armored battlewagons which possibly have yet to see action.

Destruction of 150 Japanese planes increased the aircraft toll exacted of the Japanese by the Halsey-Mitscher forces since about Sept. 1 to between 2,425 and 2,435.

From August 1 to date, 54 Japanese ships have been sunk, 56 probably sunk and 288 others damaged, a total of 553 exclusive of small craft.

U. S. Score On Carriers

U. S. forces have sunk at least 13 Japanese carriers of all classes and damaged at least eight others. Two enemy flattops were destroyed at the intersection.

"The others were the old Hornet, Wasp, Yorktown, and Lexington, all sunk in early phases of the war, and the CVE's or escort carriers Liscomb Bay and Block Island, both sent down more recently.

"Sinking of the Princeton marks the first announced loss of a U. S. fleet unit of any size in nearly a year. The entire European and Pacific invasions were carried out without the loss of any combatant ships larger than destroyers."

8 Other Warships Hit; U. S. Light Carrier Is Sunk

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 25 (AP) — Carrier planes of the U. S. Third Fleet have sunk a large Japanese carrier, damaged two other large carriers, five or six battleships, one cruiser and several other unidentified warships in a great three-pronged naval battle which is still continuing near the Philippines.

The U.S.S. Princeton, a light carrier in Admiral William F. Halsey's force, was lost when, already badly crippled, her magazines exploded and she had to be sunk by American ships.

Japs Lose 150 Planes

No mention was made in the 1:30 a. m. communique issued by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz of any great sea battle between American fleet units and the Japanese fleet, as claimed by the Japanese radio since late yesterday.

The Tokyo radio has admitted the loss of two cruisers and a destroyer in the action while claiming to have sunk 11 ships and damaged 5 others.

The Princeton's captain and 1,360 of her officers and men were rescued.

In addition to the fleet units sunk or damaged, the Japanese lost 150 planes.

Allied Gains Peril 60,000 Nazi Troops

By WILLIAM FRYE

London, Oct. 25 (AP) — The collapse of enemy resistance in 's-Hertogenbosch was reported today as the British-Canadian drive swept forward in a mounting threat to all German positions south of the Maas river.

A Reuters dispatch from the front said opposition in the vital communications hub had ended after British infantry stormed through the city with flamethrowers burning out the German bazooka nests after a night of savage fighting.

Headquarters said merely that the city had been reached.

8 Divisions In Pocket

South of Roosendaal, the communique said, further gains brought Allied troops to the neighborhood of Pindorp. Gains also were outlined south of Breskens, Schelde estuary port, where Canadian troops are now cleaning up a tightening pocket. Fighting reached the edge of Ostburg and the road between that town and Schoondijke was cut.

German forces endangered in western Holland are known to include patched up units of eight divisions, the 85th, 59th, 245th, 256th, 346th, 711th, 712th and 719th. About 11,000 of these are sealed off by land on the Schelde estuary islands through Canadian seizure of the neck of the peninsula in a fanout north and northeast of Woensdrecht.

The British reported the capture of 1,400 prisoners Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in the 's-Hertogenbosch sector and virtually all were from the scoring 702th Division.

Savage Fighting

The Germans have flooded the southeastern corner of 's-Hertogenbosch in an unsuccessful attempt to hamper the attacking infantry, but organized opposition inside the city has ended and the resistance of scattered parties could not delay (Please Turn to Page 2)

Sent Certificate For Purple Heart

Mrs. James W. Gilbert, 22 York street, whose husband, T-5 James W. Gilbert, Jr., 28, died August 9 in France from wounds received the previous day, received a certificate for the Purple Heart from the War Department last Friday.

Mrs. Gilbert also received a letter from Secretary of War Henry M. Stimson stating that she would be sent the award.

APPLE TRUCK UPSETS

Little damage was reported to a truck, carrying a load of apples, which upset at the intersection of Lincoln avenue and Carlisle streets Monday afternoon. Righted by a tow-truck from the H. and H. Machine shop, the driver continued on his way. The truck was owned by S. J. Geiser, of Maryland. Most of the apples which were scattered over the streets were picked up by by-standers, among them a large number of the coeds from the dormitories at the intersection.

U. S. Score On Carriers

Action Started Monday

The actions began Monday afternoon (U. S. time) extended throughout Tuesday and general "action is continuing," Nimitz said.

Nimitz said a strong force of land-based Japanese planes attacked one U. S. task group Monday and succeeded in seriously damaging the Princeton, which is the first American carrier lost since the Liscombe Bay went down in flames off the Marshall Islands in early December 1943.

Approximately 150 of these enemy planes were shot down during the attack, Nimitz said.

Besides the captain, 133 other officers and 1,227 enlisted men were saved. The complement of the light (jeep) carrier is not listed but probably is around 1,500.

Attempted Surprise

The Japanese—obviously attempting a surprise three pronged attack which they hoped would catch Halsey's force concentrating on Japanese battleships and cruisers in the Sibuyan and Sulu seas—sent a third force from Formosa.

This group included at least three carriers. However there was no indication in the communique that any Japanese carrier planes were launched against the Third fleet which possibly achieved surprise instead in its crippling attack on the imperial navy ships.

It was from this carrier force that Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's planes sank "at least one large carrier and severely damaged two others."

Discovered by Planes

Nimitz said reports of this carrier action south of Formosa yet are incomplete, indicating the third fleet may have inflicted additional severe damage upon the enemy.

The actions began Monday. Carrier search planes discovered two enemy forces heading eastward through the Sibuyan and Sulu seas, ostensibly intending to bombard Gen. Douglas MacArthur's ground forces on Leyte island.

One force consisted of three or four battleships, ten cruisers and about 13 destroyers.

Many Jap Ships Hit

Repeated attacks by carrier aircraft indicate that every battleship was damaged by bombs, that at least one was torpedoed and one cruiser was torpedoed.

The second force was sighted southwest of Negros island in the Sulu sea in the southwestern Philippines. It consisted of two battleships, one cruiser and four destroyers.

Both battleships were damaged by bombs and the light units were strafed.

There was no hint in the communique whether the Japanese battleships were of the older, slower classes or their new heavily armed and armored battlewagons which possibly have yet to see action.

Destruction of 150 Japanese planes increased the aircraft toll exacted of the Japanese by the Halsey-Mitscher forces since about Sept. 1 to between 2,425 and 2,435.

From August 1 to date, 245 Japanese ships have been sunk, 56 probably sunk and 298 others damaged, a total of 589 exclusive of small craft.

ALBERT THOMAS HELD FOR COURT

Albert Thomas, East Berlin R. 2, was held for the November term of court under an aggregate bond of $1,500 following two separate hearings Tuesday afternoon on two different charges before two justices of the peace.

Thomas was arrested on the beer sales charge by agents of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control board and Friday by the state police on the gambling charge.

Yanks Take 14 Towns In Philippines; Push Ahead

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Oct. 25 (AP)—Pushing all opposition aside and crushing feeble Japanese counter attacks, American forces liberated 14 more towns and barrios and advanced to the outskirts of Tabontabon, eight miles northwest of Dulag, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Capture of San Pablo air-drome seven miles west of Dulag was also announced, but a field dispatch from Al Dopking, Associated Press war correspondent, yesterday reported its seizure.

Third Airfield Taken

Dopking disclosed that the Yanks went through dense undergrowth and mud and muck sometimes nearly up to their necks in making a circuitous march of 12 miles to capture the San Pablo field. It was the third airfield taken on Leyte. The other are at Tacloban and Dulag.

After securing the San Pablo field armored units of the 7th Division fanned out to the northward toward Dagami, important road junction at the western edge of Leyte valley. Elements of the 96th Division advanced to a point nine miles north of Catamon, enveloped Catmon Hill and pushed on to the approaches of Tabontabon.

Few Enemy Planes

Substantial gains west of Palo and Tacloban were made by units of the 10th Corps now pushing ahead from a line of hills seized from the Japanese which dominate the coast between Palo and Tacloban.

Intermittent attacks by few enemy planes continued. American fighter patrols beat them off. At least five Japanese planes were shot down.

Destruction or damaging of 64 enemy planes on Oct. 22 and 23 was disclosed by MacArthur. The damage was done by American planes striking Japanese airfields in the western Visayas and northern Mindanao. Six American planes were lost, but all pilots except one were saved.

PENN DAY IS OBSERVED BY H.S. STUDENTS

Students in Adams county high schools celebrated Tuesday the 300th anniversary of the birth of William Penn with special exercises at which each school planted a hemlock, the Pennsylvania state tree.

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, president of the Adams County Historical society and head of the history department at Gettysburg college, delivered the dedicatory remarks in connection with the tree planting at the Gettysburg high school. In the program under the auspices of the Local History club at the high school, the tree was planted by the club officers, President Norman Rasmussen, Vice-President Walter Keeney, Secretary Barbara Johnson and Treasurer Cornelius Knorr.

The exercises opened with a selection by the high school band under the direction of Edwin S. Longanecker and Doris Gittlin read the governor's Penn Day proclamation. Janice Sachs sang "Pennsylvania" and Doctor Fortenbaugh reviewed the life of William Penn and told of the characteristics of the founder of Pennsylvania.

Doctor Fortenbaugh spoke of Penn as "the greatest of the founders of any of the American colonies. He was the apostle not only of religious liberty, but also of political liberty and of peace."

The history department head pointed out that not only had Penn founded Pennsylvania, but he also colonized Delaware and a part of New Jersey.

Other High Schools

At the Fairfield high school, the exercises were begun in the school auditorium where six members of the freshman English civics class read essays they had written on the life and citizenship of Penn. Those reading the essays were Mary Iler, Thomas Sanders, Joseph Topper, Betty Hiner, Janet Sites and Dorothy Jean McClellan.

716 MILITARY BALLOTS ARE ON FILE HERE

Indications pointed today to a soldier vote of more than 1,000 in this county—possibly much more than that figure—as the county commissioners' office reported this morning that 716 marked ballots already have been returned. November 22 is the counting date for the military votes and the last day on which they may be accepted. They must be postmarked not later than November 7, however.

Under the provisions of the Pennsylvania military ballot law, the county commissioners' office here mailed out a total of 2,517 ballots to men and women in the service.

The list of names was compiled by Civilian Defense corps members in all parts of the county months ago. Men in the service did not have to apply for ballots.

A state-wide tabulation showed Franklin county mailed 3,832 military ballots and has received 939. In York county 9,557 ballots were sent out and 3,118 have been returned.

200,000 In State

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP) — A Pennsylvania soldier vote of 200,000 or more was indicated today by a survey of county election boards now receiving sealed military ballots for counting on November 22.

Reports from all 67 counties showed a total of 644,305 ballots mailed out and 182,271 returned. Only from Mercer county was there no report of ballots returned and the figures from a number of other counties lacked those received in the last few days.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, which gave President Roosevelt slightly more than his state-wide majority of 281,000 four years ago, accounted for almost 80,000 of the soldier votes already received.

Under Pennsylvania's military voting law, no application was required for ballots, which were mailed starting in September to all members of the armed forces whose addresses could be obtained. The law provides that when an application is made it must be received before Nov. 7. Marked ballots may be returned until the counting date but must bear a date not later than November 7.

PRINCETON WAS LAUNCHED IN '43

Philadelphia, Oct. 25 (AP)—The USS Princeton, light carrier sunk after an engagement with the Japanese fleet off the Philippines, was built at the New York Shipbuilding company yards at nearby Camden, N. J.

8 Other Warships Hit; U. S. Light Carrier Is Sunk

By CHARLES H. McMURTRY

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, Oct. 25 (AP)—Carrier planes of the U. S. Third Fleet have sunk a large Japanese carrier, damaged two other large carriers, five or six battleships, one cruiser and several other unidentified warships in a great three-pronged naval battle which is still continuing near the Philippines.

The U.S.S. Princeton, a light carrier in Admiral William F. Halsey's force, was lost when, already badly crippled, her magazines exploded and she had to be sunk by American ships.

FIFTH GRINDS OUT NEW GAINS

Rome, Oct. 25 (AP)—Fifth Army troops ground out important gains today in the mountainous southern approaches to the Italian communications hub of Bologna while the Eighth Army rolled through receding German resistance in the Adriatic end of the Po valley.

After a week of bloody fighting in the mist-shrouded Apennines, American doughboys drove the Germans from Monte Belmonte, a mountain key to the enemy's defense of Bologna. The Americans held it against several counterattacks.

At the eastern end of the Po valley virtually all German resistance now has ceased in the triangle formed by the Savio river as it runs northward from Cesena to the Adriatic. British and Canadian troops of the Eighth Army, after enlarging separate bridgeheads across the Savio on each side of Cesena, now are advancing northward astride the Bologna highway with tank support. Polish and Indian troops operating in the mountains to the southwest made minor advances.

8 Other Ships

ed in the battle of the Coral sea, six at Midway, one at Santa Cruz, one in the Philippines sea, one in the current Formosa action and two by submarines.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced late yesterday in a terse communique devoid of details that enemy naval forces had been observed heading eastward through the Suibai and Sibuyan seas. This could be taken to indicate two Japanese fleets.

The Suibai sea is between Borneo and the southern Philippines, the southwest approach to Leyte; the smaller Sibuyan sea is northwest of Leyte.

Decisive June 19 Action
Admiral Nimitz said aircraft of Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier forces of the Third fleet had opened an attack.

Thus appeared the probability of a great naval air battle, with at least a section of the elusive Japanese fleet out in the open for the first time since last June 19 when it was whipped soundly in the Philippines sea.

In that decisive engagement 402 Japanese carrier planes were destroyed along with one aircraft carrier, one destroyer and two tankers; one battleship, four carriers, three cruisers, two destroyers and three tankers were damaged.

Tokyo may have surmised that Admiral Halsey's Third fleet, which roamed the western Pacific for two months striking devastating blows, had retired already from the Philippines invasion area because of supply problems.

SUPERFORCES HIT KYUSHU ISLAND

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Strategic targets on the Japanese island of Kyushu were attacked today by a task force of B-29 superfortresses on the 20th airforce, Gen. H. H. Arnold announced at the War Department in his capacity as commanding general of the 20th airforce.

Kyushu, one of the main islands of the Japanese homeland, is at the southern tip of the Archipelago.

The announcement said further details will be given in a communique "as soon as additional information is available."

OPA RULES ON ELECTION GAS

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration says it can't supply extra gasoline ration for private automobile transportation to take voters to the polls where other travel means are available.

The advice came from Price Administrator Chester Bowles in a letter to Senator Davis (R-Pa.).

Pennsylvania has no absentee voting law and Davis contended many persons from his state working elsewhere would be unable to return to cast their ballots unless allowed extra gas rations.

Under OPA regulations, Bowles replied, "A special ration may be granted to carry persons to and from the polls for the purpose of voting in public elections (including primary elections), provided reasonably adequate alternative means of transportation are not available."

"We want to be as helpful as possible to potential voters but we are not in a position to relax the requirements," Bowles said.

Where there is no other form of transportation available, voter-mobilists may apply to their local ration boards on special forms which the boards have available, he concluded.

CLASHES FLARE THROUGH SPAIN

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Clashes between Spanish Republican guerrillas and forces of Generalissimo Francisco Franco have spread even into southern Spain, besides the guerrilla raids into northern Spain from France, an officer of the Anti-Franco National Spanish Union in Paris declared today.

Madrid meanwhile said all but a handful of the Republicans striking into Spain's Navarre section from France had been wiped out.

The National Spanish Union was formed to unite all anti-Franco Spaniards in France, and claims affiliation with an underground junta of Madrid. In Paris a union official, Colonel Paz, declared clashes were occurring in Andalusia in southern Spain, as well as in Catalonia and Asturias in northern Spain, and other parts of the country. Forays from the French border continue, he said, but there is little information on these struggles due to scant communications.

Colonel Paz charged 40,000 Germans from France had taken refuge in Spain, some aiding Franco's forces and others being helped by the Franco government to go to South America. He also asserted Catholics in Spain now were largely opposed to Franco because of "his dictatorial actions."

Believes "Gangplank" Marriages Doomed

State College, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—Juvenile delinquency and preservation of the family were discussed today at the closing session of the annual institute on marriage and home adjustment at the Pennsylvania State College.

Cause of delinquency and ways to combat the evil occupied a large share of the program with Dr. Garret C. Myers, author of several books on youth and marriage leading the discussion.

Counselors attending the institute were told by Dr. Henry A. Bowman of Stephens College that the "souvenir" baby was a travesty on marriage, adding "no sound thinking girl would get married just to have a remembrance in case the boy should be killed."

A prediction was made by Dr. Clifford B. Adams, associate professor of psychology at Penn State that many of the "gangplank weddings" that became popular shortly after Pearl Harbor, will end in divorce and disillusionment.

Board Accused Of Policy Change

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Pennsylvania federation of labor said today the state labor relations board "has changed its position to the extent that they will not recognize a craft unit if the petitioning workers are not actually holding membership in a union."

Previously, the organization explained in its monthly publication, "our unions have filed petitions with the board requesting certification as collective bargaining agencies for craft units in specific plants, after having secured pledge cards from a majority of the employees engaged in such units indicating their desire to have the union involved represent him or her in collective bargaining negotiations."

"It is now necessary in organizing craft units," added the publication, "that we have the workers involved in such units become members of our unions before a petition is filed with the board for the right to act as collective bargaining agency for such workers."

President Roosevelt, Lieut. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., Army commander of the Hawaiian Department, and Gov. Ingram M. Stainback of Hawaii each announced the lifting of martial law yesterday.

The most important effect of the Presidential proclamation was to restore to Hawaiian citizens the right of trial in civil courts and the right of habeas corpus.

Security measures may be enforced by the military because the district is a "military area," as are other areas of the United States, notably the east coast, the west coast, the southern sea frontier and Alaska, Governor Stainback said.

complete occupation of the city more than a few hours.

The German radio reported savage small-scale fighting near Embermen, and indications that General Patton's Third Army was preparing to drive northward between Dieuze and Chateau Salins east of Nancy.

Together the British and Canadian drives threatened both ends of the rail and highway network serving the Germans in southwestern Holland and were pushing the Nazis back from their long-distance blockade of Antwerp, needed by the Allies to tunnel supplies to the main front facing east toward Germany.

A field dispatch declared that the capture of 's-Hertogenbosch would imperil the entire German force estimated at between 60,000 and 70,000 men in western Holland.

It was announced that Chinese units also continued to engage the invaders about 12 miles west of Hing-an, a Hunan-Kwangsi railway town 31 miles north of Kweilin.

The Chinese made progress in attacks against Japanese positions located 12 miles southwest of Hing-an and 21 miles north of Kweilin. This was in the area of the closest Japanese penetration toward Kweilin.

On the west river front in southern Kwangsi fighting raged in the vicinity of Kweiping, 70 miles south-southeast of Liuchow, and near Pingnam, 30 miles southeast of Liuchow, the Chinese high command said.

FIFTH GRINDS OUT NEW GAINS

Rome, Oct. 25 (AP)—Fifth Army troops ground out important gains today in the mountainous southern approaches to the Italian communications hub of Bologna while the Eighth Army rolled through receding German resistance in the Adriatic end of the Po valley.

After a week of bloody fighting in the mist-shrouded Apennines, American doughboys drove the Germans from Monte Belmonte, a mountain key to the enemy's defense of Bologna. The Americans held it against several counterattacks.

At the eastern end of the Po valley virtually all German resistance now has ceased in the triangle formed by the Savio river as it runs northward from Cesena to the Adriatic. British and Canadian troops of the Eighth Army, after enlarging separate bridgeheads across the Savio on each side of Cesena, now are advancing northward astride the Bologna highway with tank support. Polish and Indian troops operating in the mountains to the southwest made minor advances.

8 Other Ships

ed in the battle of the Coral sea, six at Midway, one at Santa Cruz, one in the Philippines sea, one in the current Formosa action and two by submarines.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced late yesterday in a terse communique devoid of details that enemy naval forces had been observed heading eastward through the Sulu and Sibuyan seas. This could be taken to indicate two Japanese fleets.

The Sulu sea is between Borneo and the southern Philippines, the southwest approach to Leyte; the smaller Sibuyan sea is northwest of Leyte.

Decisive June 19 Action
Admiral Nimitz said aircraft of Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier forces of the Third fleet had opened an attack.

Thus appeared the probability of a great naval-air battle, with at least a section of the elusive Japanese fleet out in the open for the first time since late June 19 when it was whipped soundly in the Philippines sea.

In that decisive engagement 402 Japanese carrier planes were destroyed along with one aircraft carrier, one destroyer and two tankers; one battleship, four carriers, three cruisers, two destroyers and three tankers were damaged.

Tokyo may have surmised that Admiral Halsey's Third fleet, which roamed the western Pacific for two months striking devastating blows, had retired already from the Philippines invasion area because of supply problems.

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Strategic targets on the Japanese island of Kyushu were attacked today by a task force of B-29 superfortresses on the 20th airforce, Gen. H. H. Arnold announced at the War Department in his capacity as commanding general of the 20th airforce.

Kyushu, one of the main islands of the Japanese homeland, is at the southern tip of the Archipelago. The announcement said further details will be given in a communique "as soon as additional information is available."

The department said it was the fourth raid by the giant sky destroyers on the island. The last was staged Aug. 20-21 in a coordinated day and night assault.

CLASHES FLARE THROUGH SPAIN

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Clashes between Spanish Republican guerrillas and forces of Generalissimo Francisco Franco have spread even into southern Spain, besides the guerrilla raids into northern Spain from France, an officer of the Anti-Franco National Spanish Union in Paris declared today.

Madrid meanwhile said all but a handful of the Republicans striking into Spain's Navarra section from France had been wiped out.

The National Spanish Union was formed to unite all anti-Franco Spaniards in France, and claims affiliation with an underground junta of Madrid. In Paris a union official, Colonel Paz, declared clashes were occurring in Andalusia in southern Spain, as well as in Catalonia and Asturias in northern Spain, and other parts of the country. Forays from the French border continue, he said, but there is little information on these struggles due to scant communications.

Colonel Paz charged 40,000 Germans from France had taken refuge in Spain, some aiding Franco's forces and others being helped by the Franco government to go to South America. He also asserted Catholics in Spain now were largely opposed to Franco because of "his dictatorial actions."

Counselors attending the institute were told by Dr. Henry A. Bowman of Stephens College that the "souvenir" baby was a travesty on marriage, adding "no sound thinking girl would get married just to have a remembrance in case the boy should be killed."

A prediction was made by Dr. Clifford R. Adams, associate professor of psychology at Penn State that many of the "gangplank weddings" that became popular shortly after Pearl Harbor, will end in divorce and disillusionment.

"It is now necessary in organizing craft units," added the publication, "that we have the workers involved in such units become members of our unions before a petition is filed with the board for the right to act as collective bargaining agency for such workers."

Assistant Fire Chief Clarence Fry of Wilkensburg estimated damage to the building at $50,000. E. A. Murdoch, secretary-treasurer of the storage company, said the stored furnishings were covered by insurance.

Traffic entering Pittsburgh over the William Penn highway had to be rerouted. Street car and bus service carrying war workers to Turtle Creek valley plants was delayed.

President Roosevelt, Lieut. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., Army commander of the Hawaiian Department, and Gov. Ingram M. Stainback of Hawaii each announced the lifting of martial law yesterday.

The most important effect of the Presidential proclamation was to restore to Hawaiian citizens the right of trial in civil courts and the right of habeas corpus.

Security measures may be enforced by the military because the district is a "military area," as are other areas of the United States, notably the east coast, the west coast, the southern sea frontier and Alaska, Governor Stainback said.

CHINESE RETAKE JAP POSITIONS

Chungking, Oct. 25 (AP)—Chinese troops have recaptured Sinning, an important point in the enemy's right flank 90 miles north of Kweilin. The Chinese high command announced today.

The announcement said the beaten Japanese retreated toward Tun-gan, on the Hunan-Kwangsi railway 90 miles northeast of Kweilin. The city of Kweilin is a key defense center of the Chinese in Kwangsi province and is the site of a former American airbase.

It was announced that Chinese units also continued to engage the invaders about 12 miles west of Hingan, a Hunan-Kwangsi railway town 31 miles north of Kweilin.

The Chinese made progress in attacks against Japanese positions located 12 miles southwest of Hingan and 21 miles north of Kweilin. This was in the area of the closest Japanese penetration toward Kweilin.

On the west river front in southern Kwangsi fighting raged in the vicinity of Kweiping, 70 miles south of Hingan, and near Pingnam, 80 miles southeast of Luchow. The Chinese high command said.

FIFTH GRINDS OUT NEW GAINS

Rome, Oct. 25 (AP)—Fifth Army troops ground out important gains today in the mountainous southern approaches to the Italian communications hub of Bologna while the Eighth Army rolled through receding German resistance in the Adriatic end of the Po valley.

After a week of bloody fighting in the mist-shrouded Apennines, American doughboys drove the Germans from Monte Belmonte, a mountain key to the enemy's defense of Bologna. The Americans held it against several counterattacks.

At the eastern end of the Po valley virtually all German resistance now has ceased in the triangle formed by the Savio river as it runs northward from Cesena to the Adriatic. British and Canadian troops of the Eighth Army, after enlarging separate bridgeheads across the Savio on each side of Cesena, now are advancing northwestward astride the Bologna highway with tank support. Polish and Indian troops operating in the mountains to the southwest made minor advances.

8 Other Ships

ed in the battle of the Coral sea, six at Midway, one at Santa Cruz, one in the Philippines sea, one in the current Formosa action and two by submarines.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced late yesterday in a terse communique devoid of details that enemy naval forces had been observed heading eastward through the Sulu and Sibuyan seas. This could be taken to indicate two Japanese fleets.

The Sulu sea is between Borneo and the southern Philippines, the southwest approach to Leyte; the smaller Sibuyan sea is northwest of Leyte.

Decisive June 19 Action
Admiral Nimitz said aircraft of Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier forces of the Third fleet had opened an attack.

Thus appeared the probability of a great naval-air battle, with at least a section of the elusive Japanese fleet out in the open for the first time since late June 19 when it was whipped soundly in the Philippines sea.

In that decisive engagement 402 Japanese carrier planes were destroyed along with one aircraft carrier, one destroyer and three tankers; one battleship, four carriers, three cruisers, two destroyers and three tankers were damaged.

Tokyo may have surmised that Admiral Halsey's Third fleet, which roamed the western Pacific for two months striking devastating blows, had retired already from the Philippines invasion area because of supply problems.

SUPERFORTS HIT KYUSHU ISLAND

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Strategic targets on the Japanese island of Kyushu were attacked today by a task force of B-29 superfortresses on the 20th airforce, Gen. H. H. Arnold announced at the War Department in his capacity as commanding general of the 20th airforce.

Kyushu, one of the main islands of the Japanese homeland, is at the southern tip of the Archipelago.

The announcement said further details will be given in a communique "as soon as additional information is available."

The department said it was the fourth raid by the giant sky destroyers on the island. The last was staged Aug. 20-21 in a coordinated day and night assault.

Only 44 Of 121 Bodies Identified

Cleveland, Oct. 25 (AP)—Engineers and workmen proceeded today with the task of transforming into its natural state the liquefied gas in two storage tanks which withstood the blasts and raging flames of the East Ohio Co. disaster.

As the draining operation began, the search for bodies of victims of last Friday's holocaust continued. A total of 121 bodies had been recovered, but only 44 were identified. Coroner S. R. Gerber estimated that at least half a dozen more bodies remained in the 50-block area of devastation. The number of missing stood at 83, but the coroner said this figure probably included some of the unidentified dead.

OPA RULES ON ELECTION GAS

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP) — The Office of Price Administration says it can't supply extra gasoline rations for private automobile transportation to take voters to the polls where other travel means are available.

The advice came from Price Administrator Chester Bowles in a letter to Senator Davis (R-Pa.).

Pennsylvania has no absentee voting law and Davis contended many persons from his state working elsewhere would be unable to return to cast their ballots unless allowed extra gas rations.

Under OPA regulations, Bowles replied, "A special ration may be granted to carry persons to and from the polls for the purpose of voting in public elections (including primary elections), provided reasonably adequate alternative means of transportation are not available."

"We want to be as helpful as possible to potential voters but we are not in a position to relax the requirements," Bowles said.

Where there is no other form of transportation available, voter-motors may apply to their local ration boards on special forms which the boards have available, he concluded.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (AP)—Six-year-old Mary Genevieve Mittermeyer died in Allegheny General hospital last night of burns which relatives said she received when her dress caught fire as she attempted to lift a hot pan from the kitchen stove. Her mother, Mrs. Marjorie Mittermeyer, 30, was burned when she went to her daughter's rescue.

Possessions Of 500 Families Burn

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (AP)—Household possessions of more than 500 families were destroyed, four firemen were injured and eight families were routed from a nearby apartment house when fire destroyed the four-story warehouse of the Murdoch Storage and Transfer company in Wilkensburg last night.

Assistant Fire Chief Clarence Fry of Wilkensburg estimated damage to the building at $50,000. E. A. Murdoch, secretary-treasurer of the storage company, said the stored furnishings were covered by insurance.

Traffic entering Pittsburgh over the William Penn highway had to be rerouted. Street car and bus service carrying war workers to Turtle Creek valley plants was delayed.

Fire companies from Penn township, Churchill borough and Pittsburgh aided Wilkensburg firemen in bringing the blaze under control after a three-hour battle.

Flying Bombs Hit Southern England

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Germans struck at southern England and London with their flying bombs last night for the second night in succession, but the Ministry of Information said today the raids apparently caused no casualties although some damage was done.

A number of the robots fell to antiaircraft fire.

to the school yard where Barbara Kleppinger read the governor's proclamation and John Dick and Leonard Sites planted the hemlock. Miss Mary Shaffer, teacher of the English civics class, was in charge of the program.

The Biglerville high school program, under the direction of Ray Shetter, a faculty member, opened with the playing of the Star Spangled Banner by the school band. Barbara Kleinfelter read the proclamation and Arthur Gordon of the faculty, gave an address, "Penn's Ideals." Jane Beal read the poem, "Trees," and the FFA club members planted the hemlock. The exercises, which were witnessed by the entire student body, closed with the playing of "America," by the band.

Although the hemlock tree was planted Tuesday at the Arendtsville Vocational school, the special Penn assembly program was held this morning in the school auditorium. The planting was done by members of the Future Farmers of America group under the direction of Jack B. Clinch, agricultural teacher. The program this morning was in charge of Charles Lady, Arendtsville FFA president, who spoke on Penn's life.

Allied Gains

complete occupation of the city more than a few hours.

The German radio reported savage small-scale fighting near Embermen, and indications that General Patton's Third Army was preparing to drive northward between Dieuze and Chateau Salins east of Nancy.

Together the British and Canadian drives threatened both ends of the rail and highway network serving the Germans in southwestern Holland and were pushing the Nazis back from their long-distance blockade of Antwerp, needed by the Allies to funnel supplies to the main front facing east toward Germany.

A field dispatch declared that the capture of "s-Hertogenbosch" would imperil the entire German force estimated at between 60,000 and 70,000 men in western Holland.

British Patrols Advance In Greece

Rome, Oct. 25 (AP)—British patrols following the German withdrawal out of Greece have entered Dhomokos, 30 miles north of Lamia. Allied headquarters announced today.

The occupation of Lamia, 93 miles northwest of Athens, was announced yesterday.

Headquarters also disclosed today that the Germans have evacuated the port of Volos, about 45 miles northeast of Lamia and 37 miles from Dhomokos, after suffering severe casualties at the hands of Greek guerrillas.

From Volos the retreating Germans are confronted with a 125-mile trek northward before they reach the Yugoslav frontier.

Headquarters announced that additional Allied troops have been landed at Piraeus, port of Athens.

Egg Prices Will Hold Until December

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (AP)—Housewives will continue to pay as high as 73 cents a dozen for eggs for the next six weeks, the district Office of Price Administration announced in setting new ceiling prices which become effective tomorrow.

Costs should begin to fall early in December, the OPA said.

The 73-cent ceiling is for top grade eggs in cartons. Extra large eggs bought in bulk from independent grocers will bring 71 cents, while medium grade will sell for 63 cents a dozen in bulk.

Hawaii Regains Civil Government

Honolulu, Oct. 25 (AP) — Civil government has returned to Hawaii for the first time since the islands were the target of Japanese warfare on Dec. 7, 1941.

President Roosevelt, Lieut. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr., Army commander of the Hawaiian Department, and Gov. Ingram M. Stainback of Hawaii each announced the lifting of martial law yesterday.

The most important effect of the Presidential proclamation was to restore to Hawaiian citizens the right of trial in civil courts and the right of habeas corpus.

Security measures may be enforced by the military because the district is a "military area," as are other areas of the United States, notably the east coast, the west coast, the southern sea frontier and Alaska, Governor Stainback said.

Report Partisans Take Danube Town

London, Oct. 25 (AP) — The Free Yugoslav radio announced today the capture of Novi Sad on the Danube, 45 miles northwest of Belgrade by Marshal Tito's partisans.

The capture of Petrovaradin, just across the Danube from the Belgrade-Budapest rail junction, by Russian and Yugoslav forces also was announced.

The premier said that at the next cabinet meeting he would call for mobilization of the four youngest classes of Greek reservists.

CHINESE RETAKE JAP POSITIONS

Chungking, Oct. 25 (AP)—Chinese troops have recaptured Sinning, an important point in the enemy's right flank 90 miles north of Kweilin the Chinese high command announced today.

The announcement said the beaten Japanese retreated toward Tun-gan, on the Hunan-Kwangsi railway 90 miles northeast of Kweilin. The city of Kweilin is a key defense center of the Chinese in Kwangsi province and is the site of a former American airbase.

It was announced that Chinese units also continued to engage the invaders about 12 miles west of Hingan, a Hunan-Kwangsi railway town 31 miles north of Kweilin.

The Chinese made progress in attacks against Japanese positions located 12 miles southwest of Hingan and 21 miles north of Kweilin. This was in the area of the closest Japanese penetration toward Kweilin.

On the west river front in southern Kwangsi fighting raged in the vicinity of Kweiping, 70 miles south southeast of Luchow, and near Pingnam, 80 miles southeast of Luchow, the Chinese high command said.

New Executions Of Poles Rumored

Moscow, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Soviet-sponsored Polish Committee of National Liberation declared that Polish civilians evacuated from Warsaw are being executed at Oswiecim, concentration camp 30 miles west of Krakow.

The committee said yesterday that virtually all of a group of 12,400 which reached the camp Oct. 14 had been put to death in gas chambers the same day. Males capable of physical labor, however, were sent on to Germany.

LOWER PAXTON WILL PLAY AT BIGLERVILLE

Biglerville high school's gridironers are expected to have their hands full Thursday evening when Lower Paxton invades the upper counties gridiron for a Lower Susquehanna conference game. The kickoff is slated for 8 o'clock.

Lower Paxton battled the unbeaten Lemoyne aggregation all the way Monday night before yielding a touchdown in the final period to lose 14-7. Lemoyne tallied after two of Lower Paxton's aces, Swavel, back, and Captain Eustler, center, were forced out due to injuries. Both are expected to be ready to face the Cannons.

The lineup for the Rangers Thursday night will probably be: Corl and O. Thrush, ends; Long and Mosteller, tackles; Moon and Harnsberger, guards; Eustler, center; E. Ricker, quarterback; Swavel and Shadle, halfbacks; and Cobb, fullback.

Excepting for Ogden, the Biglerville squad is in good condition. Ogden is still nursing an old injury and in the event he is not ready to fill his usual spot in the backfield either Sternat or Sando will step in.

Others who are scheduled to start for the Cannons are: Dixon and Ebert, ends; Hikes and Jester, tackles; Miller and Brough, guards; Heller, center; Bucher, quarterback; Utz, halfback, and D. Pitzer, fullback.

HORNET HOCKEY TEAM IMPROVES

(By The Associated Press) The Pittsburgh Hornets, who last season won only 12 games out of 32 in the American Hockey League will try to win their fourth game tonight when they play host to Providence Reds.

Fan interest is warranted in view of the fact that Pittsburgh was one of the tailenders in the league last year. This season, with Max Kauminsky installed as coach, and with the addition of Doc Klein and Max Bennett, high scoring wingers, the Hornets lost their opener to Cleveland, but then turned around and bowled over the Barons, Buffalo and Providence.

The new coach, a southpaw-shooting center, has seen action with Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens of the national hockey league. He is 31 years old and hails from Niagara Falls, Ont. His acquisition by the Hornets, together with Klein and Bennett, marked the transfer of an entire line from Buffalo to Pittsburgh.

Other league action tonight will see the Indianapolis Capitals face off against the Hershey Bears at Hershey, Pa.

Eagles Inspired By Bonus System

Philadelphia, Oct. 25 (AP)—Crisp five dollar bills are providing the unbeaten Philadelphia Eagles of the national football league with a kind of inspiration that is easy to take.

A bonus system, announced by the management, pays $10 for each tackle inside the rival 20-yard line; $5 for each intercepted pass; $10 if the Eagles score after a pass interception without surrendering the ball; $5 for each blocked kick; $5 to every Eagle on the field for each touchdown runback of a punt or kickoff.

Looking forward to the Gettysburg high school basketball season which will get underway early in December, Coach Mel Dry held a drill Tuesday evening for candidates who are not participating in football.

It is planned to hold practices several nights a week until the regular drills begin at the conclusion of the football season.

Those who drilled Tuesday evening were Billy Ogden, George Gorman, George Saylor, Sefton Eisenhart, Richard Heimzelman, Robert Hand, Norman Rasmussen and Scott Mountain. Additional candidates are expected to report soon.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—The rumor department has it that the Pacific coast league is threatening to branch out as a third major baseball circuit. . . . From this distance it doesn't look like a serious threat—maybe a big stick to persuade the majors to grant that $15,000 draft price. . . . Although the populations of some West Coast cities have increased tremendously, only Los Angeles and San Francisco are of real big-league size and they're the only ones with big-league seating capacities in their ball parks—25,000 each. The smallest major league park seats about 30,000 fans. . . . The other clubs all would have to rebuild their parks, assume major league salary lists and they'd lose the profits they get by developing youngsters and selling them to the majors. . . . Add to that the fact that the coast league, with a record attendance last summer, averaged under 300,000 per club—hardly a get-rich-quick total. . . . And what would they do about the world series, anyway?

BOUNCING CHECK

A clipping from an English paper reveals that Barry Newenhuys, South African soccer star who had been playing for Liverpool, has been suspended for "asking a league club for payment in excess of the regulation." . . . The item explains further: "Newenhuys admitted having done so and expressed his deep regret to the management committee." . . . And we thought Branch Rickey still was in Brooklyn.

CALLING HIS SHOT

Bobby Hicks, Piedmont League umpire, tells this one about Shortstop Tom Brown, who moved up from Newport News to the Dodgers late this season. . . . "I called a second strike on the kid that was pretty close," says Hicks. "He gave me a look, then took a toe hold and faced the pitcher. 'I can spot you one strike and that sore-armed pitcher another, and still hit,' he growled. . . . then he blasted the next pitch for a triple."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Shorty McWilliams of Mississippi State, leading Southeastern Conference scorer, is slated to enter West Point early in 1945. . . . And one scribe who has watched both from their high school days rates Shorty as "better right now than Army's Doug Keena ever will be." . . . John Jacobs, Oklahoma U. track coach, is meeting the manpower shortage by using a quarter miler, Ivan Evans, for five-mile cross country jaunts. . . . Marine Pfc. Bill Veck, Milwaukee Brewers' president, is back from the Southwest Pacific for treatment of foot trouble. . . . Bill must have put his foot in it again.

SERVICE DEPT.

While Sgt. Billy Conn is giving G.I. boxing exhibitions in Italy, Brother Jackie is a paratrooper in the Pacific area and another brother, Francis, is with the infantry in Germany. . . . Marine Lieut. Ned Corman, former Penn State soccer star who flew with Major Gregory Boyington's "Black Sheep" squadron, has completed 95 combat missions over Rabaul and other Japanese strong points, he never collected a bullet hole in his plane.

NEW GRID PLAYER

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steeler-Chicago Cardinal National Football league combine has acquired Frank Martin, 180-pound half back and former Alabama University star, from the Brooklyn Dodgers on waivers. The Steeler management announced today.

TWO-DAY STRETCH

Salt Lake City, (AP)—For two decades a rubber tree remained a tiny plant in a flower pot until somebody had the bright idea to transplant it to the University of Utah greenhouse four years ago.

Now, despite severe prunings, its branches touch the greenhouse roof and threaten two walks. Employees are eying an axe, but hope to find another solution.

It is the custom on British naval vessels to pipe a "Hands to tea" call at 4 p. m.

MAROONS FACE UNBEATEN FOE

Another difficult assignment faces the Gettysburg high football team Friday evening when Chambersburg high's unbeaten outfit comes here for a Southern Pennsylvania conference game.

Coach Beard's boys have compiled an enviable record this season with three wins and a 14-1 deadlock with Hanover. The Trojans have beaten Shippensburg, 12-7, Columbia, 7-6, and Hershey, 13-6.

In their game with Hanover Monday afternoon, the Franklin countians held a 14-0 lead going into the last period but weakened and allowed the Nighthawks to gain a deadlock. However, Hanover had a wide margin in first downs, reeling off 16 to their opponents' four.

As has been the case each time this season, the Maroons will enter the game a distinct underdog. Chambersburg has a flock of lettermen and to date has not suffered any serious casualties.

At present it appears likely that Coach Dry will be forced to alter his lineup again this week due to injuries. Joe Hess, center, was forced out of the Delone game when he re-injured his ankle. In the event he is unable to start he will be replaced by Stevenson.

NEW GRID RULES ARE POPULAR

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Everybody, says Eastern Intercollegiate Football Commissioner Asa Bushnell, is happy about the changes his organization made in the gridiron rules.

Bushnell explains that the players like the changes "because the game is more fun," the coaches like them because they are able to experiment with such innovations as the free-pass rule; the spectators like them because it opens up the play and increases the scoring and the officials like them because it has simplified their work.

And "we have had no problems or complications beyond the normal ones. As a matter of fact, we have had no troubles at all. There have been the usual hypothetical questions concerning plays which could come up but as yet have not developed," he added.

In mid-summer the Eastern Intercollegiate Football association voted six changes in the NCAA grid code, following an invitation from the national rules committee that experiments were in order as preparation for possible national revisions in the future.

Three of the changes permit passing from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, allow the defensive team to run with a fumble and use of a one-inch tee at the kickoff.

Service Leaves Stop Grid Practice

Lewisburg, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—The Bucknell football team was excused from drills this week by Coach Woody Ludwig, due to leaves being granted to the Navy and Marine trainees who provide 95 per cent of the Bisons playing personnel.

The squad will re-assemble in Philadelphia tomorrow for a swift workout prior to the game with Temple University on Friday night at the Owls stadium.

Despite the layoff, the Bisons, 16 of whom will be playing their final game for the Orange and Blue, will be ready for heavy action, particularly if co-captain Gene Hibbs is recovered from his foot injury.

Milton Brown, a former supply and training officer in the United States Navy, has been named a training consultant for the Third U. S. Civil Service region, comprising the states of Pennsylvania and Delaware. It was announced today by C. D. Herzog regional director.

Civil Service commission's 13 districts was authorized. All Federal agencies will have the opportunity of calling upon this service for assistance in planning, operating or evaluating their training programs.

Brown is a native of western Pennsylvania. He has for a number of years operated training programs for the Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction and several Federal agencies. He will be located in the offices of the Third U. S. Civil Service region, Customhouse, Second and Chestnut street, Philadelphia 6.

Dewey Will Bring Next War: Guffey

Pottstown, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—U. S. Senator Joseph E. Guffey declared "the combination of the drowsy little man in the humming hat and the blind isolationists"—Governor Dewey and Senator Davis—"will give us another return to normalcy, another panic, another depression and another war," last night in a political rally speech released by Democratic state headquarters.

Other speakers at the rally were: State Democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence, who said the campaign "is definitely on the upswing for Roosevelt."

Auditor General F. Clair Ross, candidate for superior court, who of the Republican party, said "the so-called master minds" of the Republican party are sponsoring an anti-foreign and anti-semantic campaign for disgraceful political gain."

High Prices Set On Toll Bridges

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—Efforts of the Commonwealth to take over 10 remaining toll bridges is at a standstill due to high prices submitted by owners of the spans, Highway Secretary John U. Shroyer said today.

Sale prices totalling nearly $9,000,000 were asked by owners last summer. Governor Martin declared at that time they were "too high" and said further negotiation was the next step.

As to prospects of the state taking over the spans under a $10,000,000 bond issue voted for that purpose some years ago, the highway secretary commented "I don't know."

Shroyer said 10 new bridges could be built cheaper than the sale prices offered. The spans are located at Harrisburg, Clark's Ferry, Port Marion, Allentown, Bethlehem, Ellwood City and Charleroi.

ENGEL CHARGES "SUPPRESSION"

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Rep. Engel (R., Mich.) declared Tuesday that "it is apparent that President Franklin Roosevelt deliberately withheld (from Congress) vital information during the critical pre-war years and deprived our armed forces of much equipment."

This charge of suppressing "amazing and detailed reports" on growing German air power two years before Pearl Harbor, followed assertions by other Republicans that the administration is concealing other war information which might endanger President Roosevelt's fourth term chances.

It came shortly after an Army board sent to War Secretary Stimson a report of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The report, like one completed by Navy investigators last week, bore high secrecy classifications.

Rep. Meas (R., Minn.) concurred in a St. Paul speech last week that the administration "is seeking to suppress" the Naval Board of Inquiry's investigation until after the election. Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) likewise has called for publication.

The President and high officials had word of the Pearl Harbor attack six months in advance and sent no warning," Meas said.

LOWER PAXTON WILL PLAY AT BIGLERVILLE

Biglerville high school's gridder are expected to have their hands full Thursday evening when Lower Paxton invades the upper counties gridiron for a Lower Susquehanna conference game. The kickoff is slated for 8 o'clock.

Lower Paxton battled the unbeaten Lemoyne aggregation all the way Monday night before yielding a touchdown in the final period to lose 14-7. Lemoyne tallied after two of Lower Paxton's aces, Swavely, back, and Captain Eusler, center, were forced out due to injuries. Both are expected to be ready to face the Canons.

The lineup for the Rangers Thursday night will probably be: Cori and O. Thrush, ends; Long and Mosteller, tackles; Monn and Harnsberger, guards; Eustler, center; E. Ricker, quarterback; Swavely and Shadle, halfbacks; and Cobb, fullback.

Excepting for Ogden, the Biglerville squad is in good condition. Ogden is still nursing an old injury and in the event he is not ready to fill his usual spot in the backfield either Sternat or Sando will step in.

Others who are scheduled to start for the Canons are: Dixon and Ebert, ends; Hikes and Jester, tackles; Miller and Brough, guards; Heller, center; Bucher, quarterback; Utz, halfback, and D. Pitzer, fullback.

HORNET HOCKEY TEAM IMPROVES

(By The Associated Press) The Pittsburgh Hornets, who last season won only 12 games out of 52 in the American Hockey League will try to win their fourth game tonight when they play host to Providence Reds.

Fan interest is warranted in view of the fact that Pittsburgh was one of the tallenders in the league last year. This season, with Max Kaminsky installed as coach, and with the addition of Ded Klein and Max Dennett, high scoring wings, the Hornets lost their opener to Cleveland, but then turned around and bowled over the Barons, Buffalo and Providence.

The new coach, a southpaw-shooting center, has seen action with Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens of the national hockey league. He is 31 years old and hails from Niagara Falls, Ont. His acquisition by the Hornets, together with Klein and Bennett, marked the transfer of an entire line from Buffalo to Pittsburgh.

Other league action tonight will see the Indianapolis Capitals face off against the Hershey Bears at Hershey, Pa.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—The rumor department has it that the Pacific coast league is threatening to branch out as a third major baseball circuit. . . . From this distance it doesn't look like a serious threat—maybe a big stick to persuade the majors to grant that $15,000 draft price. . . . Although the populations of some West Coast cities have increased tremendously, only Los Angeles and San Francisco are of real big-league size and they're the only ones with big-league seating capacities in their ball parks—25,000 each. The smallest major league park seats about 30,000 fans. . . . The other clubs all would have to rebuild their parks, assume major league salary lists and they'd lose the profits they get by developing youngsters and selling them to the majors. . . . Add to that the fact that the coast league, with a record attendance last summer, averaged under 300,000 per club—hardly a get-rich-quick total. . . . And what would they do about the world series, anyway?

BOUNCING CHECK

A clipping from an English paper reveals that Barry Newenhuys, South African soccer star who had been playing for Liverpool, has been suspended for "asking a league club for payment in excess of the regulation." . . . The item explains further: "Newenhuys admitted having done so and expressed his deep regret to the management committee." . . . And we thought Branch Rickey still was in Brooklyn.

CALLING HIS SHOT

Bobby Hicks, Piedmont League umpire, tells this one about Shortstop Tom Brown, who moved up from Newport News to the Dodgers late this season. . . . "I called a second strike on the kid that was pretty close," says Hicks. "He gave me a look, then took a toe hold and faced the pitcher. 'I can spot you one strike and that sore-armed pitcher another and still hit,' he growled. . . . then he blasted the next pitch for a triple."

And one scribe who has watched both from their high school days rates Shorty as "better right now than Army's Doug Keena ever will be." . . . John Jacobs, Oklahoma U. track coach, is meeting the manpower shortage by using a quarter miler, Ivan Evans, for five-mile cross country jaunts. . . . Marine Pfc. TWO-DAY STRETCH

Salt Lake City, (AP)—For two decades a rubber tree remained a tiny plant in a flower pot until somebody had the bright idea to transplant it to the University of Utah greenhouse four years ago.

Now, despite severe prunings, its branches touch the greenhouse roof and threaten two walks. Employees are eying an axe, but hope to find another solution.

It is the custom on British naval vessels to pipe a "Hands to tea" call at 4 p. m.

MAROONS FACE UNBEATEN FOE

Another difficult assignment faces the Gettysburg high football team Friday evening when Chambersburg high's unbeaten outfit comes here for a Southern Pennsylvania conference game.

Coach Beard's boys have compiled an enviable record this season with three wins and a 14-14 deadlock with Hanover. The Trojans have beaten Shippensburg, 12-7, Columbia, 7-6, and Hershey, 13-6.

In their game with Hanover Monday afternoon, the Franklin countians held a 14-0 lead going into the last period but weakened and allowed the Nighthawks to gain a deadlock. However, Hanover had a wide margin in first downs, reeling off 16 to their opponents' four.

As has been the case each time this season, the Maroons will enter the game a distinct underdog. Chambersburg has a flock of lettermen and to date has not suffered any serious casualties.

At present it appears likely that Coach Dry will be forced to alter his lineup again this week due to injuries. Joe Hess, center, was forced out of the Delone game when he re-injured his ankle. In the event he is unable to start he will be replaced by Stevenson.

NEW GRID RULES ARE POPULAR

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Everybody, says Eastern Intercollegiate Football Commissioner Asa Bushnell, is happy about the changes his organization made in the gridiron rules.

Bushnell explains that the players like the changes "because the game is more fun;" the coaches like them because they are able to experiment with such innovations as the free-pass rule; the spectators like them because it opens up the play and increases the scoring and the officials like them because it has simplified their work.

And "we have had no problems or complications beyond the normal ones. As a matter of fact, we have had no troubles at all. There have been the usual hypothetical questions concerning plays which could come up but as yet have not developed," he added.

In mid-summer the Eastern Intercollegiate Football association voted six changes in the NCAA grid code, following an invitation from the national rules committee that experiments were in order as preparation for possible national revisions in the future.

Three of the changes permit passing from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, allow the defensive team to run with a fumble and use of a one-inch tee at the kickoff.

Service Leaves Stop Grid Practice

Lewisburg, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—The Bucknell football team was excused from drills this week by Coach Woody Ludwig, due to leaves being granted to the Navy and Marine trainees who provide 95 per cent of the Bisons playing personnel.

The squad will re-assemble in Philadelphia tomorrow for a stiff workout prior to the game with Temple University on Friday night at the Owls stadium.

Despite the layoff, the Bisons, 16 of whom will be playing their final game for the Orange and Blue, will be ready for heavy action, particularly if co-captain Gene Hubka is recovered from his foot injury.

Training Consultant For Civil Service

Milon Brown, a former supply and training officer in the United States Navy, has been named a training consultant for the Third U. S. Civil Service region, comprising the states of Pennsylvania and Delaware. It was announced today by C. D. Hertzig, regional director.

The new position was created by the commission to round out its functions as the central personnel agency for all Federal agencies, when the appointment of a training consultant in each of the U. S. Civil Service commission's 13 districts was authorized. All Federal agencies will have the opportunity of calling upon this service for assistance in planning, operating or evaluating their training programs.

Brown is a native of western Pennsylvania. He has for a number of years operated training programs for the Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction and several Federal agencies. During the last year he was commissioned as supply officer in the Navy and served at sea and as training officer in Washington, D. C., and the Naval Academy. He will be located in the offices of the Third U. S. Civil Service region, Customhouse, Second and Chestnut street, Philadelphia 6.

Electricity will be made available to an estimated 5,000,000 new rural consumers after the war.

Pottstown, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey declared "the combination of the dressy little man in the humbug hat and the blind isolationist"—Governor Dewey and Senator Davis—"will give us another 'return to normalcy,' another panic, another depression and another war," last night in a political rally speech released by Democratic state headquarters.

Other speakers at the rally were: State Democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence, who said the campaign is definitely on the upswing for Roosevelt.

High Prices Set On Toll Bridges

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—Efforts of the Commonwealth to take over 10 remaining toll bridges is at a standstill due to high prices submitted by owners of the spans, Highway Secretary John U. Shroyer said today.

Sale prices totaling nearly $9,000,000 were asked by owners last summer, Governor Martin declared at that time they were "too high," and said further negotiation was the next step.

As to prospects of the state taking over the spans under a $10,000,000 bond issue voted for that purpose some years ago, the highway secretary commented "I don't know."

Shroyer said 10 new bridges could be built cheaper than the sale prices offered. The spans are located at Harrisburg, Clark's Ferry, Point Marion, Allentown, Bethlehem, Ellwood City and Charleroi.

ENGEL CHARGES "SUPPRESSION"

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Rep. Engel (R., Mich.) declared Tuesday that "it is apparent that President Franklin Roosevelt deliberately withheld (from Congress) vital information during the critical pre-war years and deprived our armed forces of much equipment."

This charge of suppressing "amazing and detailed reports" on growing German air power two years before Pearl Harbor, followed assertions by other Republicans that the administration is concealing other war information which might endanger President Roosevelt's fourth term chances.

It came shortly after an Army board sent to War Secretary Stimson a report of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The report, like one completed by Navy investigators last week, bore high secrecy classifications.

Rep. Maas (R., Minn.) contended in a St. Paul speech last week that the administration "is seeking to suppress" the Naval Board of Inquiry's investigation until after the election. Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) likewise has called for publication.

"The President and high officials had word of the Pearl Harbor attack six months in advance and sent no warning," Maas said.

Improper diet, overwork, undue worries, colds, the flu or other illness often impairs the stomach's digestive functions and reduces the red-blood strength.

A person who is operating on only a 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped. At such times Nature needs extra help to restore its balance and function properly. Undigested food places a tax on the system. Insufficient blood strength is a detriment to good health.

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need! SSS Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient. TWO-DAY STRETCH

Salt Lake City, (AP)—For two decades a rubber tree remained a tiny plant in a flower pot until somebody had the bright idea to transplant it to the University of Utah greenhouse four years ago.

Now, despite severe prunings, its branches touch the greenhouse roof and threaten two walks. Employees are eyeing an axe, but hope to find another solution.

MAROONS FACE UNBEATEN FOE

Another difficult assignment faces the Gettysburg high football team Friday evening when Chambersburg high's unbeaten outfit comes here for a Southern Pennsylvania conference game.

Coach Beard's boys have compiled an enviable record this season with three wins and a 14-14 deadlock with Hanover. The Trojans have beaten Shippensburg, 12-7, Columbia, 7-6, and Hershey, 13-6.

In their game with Hanover Monday afternoon, the Franklin countians held a 14-0 lead going into the last period but weakened and allowed the Nighthawks to gain a deadlock. However, Hanover had a wide margin in first downs, reeling off 16 to their opponents' four.

As has been the case each time this season, the Maroons will enter the game a distinct underdog. Chambersburg has a flock of lettermen and to date has not suffered any serious casualties.

At present it appears likely that Coach Dry will be forced to alter his lineup again this week due to injuries. Joe Hess, center, was forced out of the Delone game when he re-injured his ankle. In the event he is unable to start he will be replaced by Stevenson.

NEW GRID RULES ARE POPULAR

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Everybody, says Eastern Intercollegiate Football Commissioner Asa Bushnell, is happy about the changes his organization made in the gridiron rules.

Bushnell explains that the players like the changes "because the game is more fun;" the coaches like them because they are able to experiment with such innovations as the free-pass rule; the spectators like them because it opens up the play and increases the scoring and the officials like them because it has simplified their work.

And "we have had no problems or complications beyond the normal ones. As a matter of fact, we have had no troubles at all. There have been the usual hypothetical questions concerning plays which could come up but as yet have not developed," he added.

In mid-summer the Eastern Intercollegiate Football association voted six changes in the NCAA grid code, following an invitation from the national rules committee that experiments were in order as preparation for possible national revisions in the future.

Three of the changes permit passing from anywhere behind the line of scrimmage, allow the defensive team to run with a fumble and use of a one-inch tee at the kickoff.

Service Leaves Stop Grid Practice

Lewisburg, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—The Bucknell football team was excused from drills this week by Coach Woody Ludwig, due to leaves being granted to the Navy and Marine trainees who provide 95 per cent of the Bisons playing personnel.

The squad will re-assemble in Philadelphia tomorrow for a stiff workout prior to the game with Temple University on Friday night at the Owls stadium.

Despite the layoff, the Bisons, 16 of whom will be playing their final game for the Orange and Blue, will be ready for heavy action, particularly if co-captain Gene Hubka is recovered from his foot injury.

Training Consultant For Civil Service

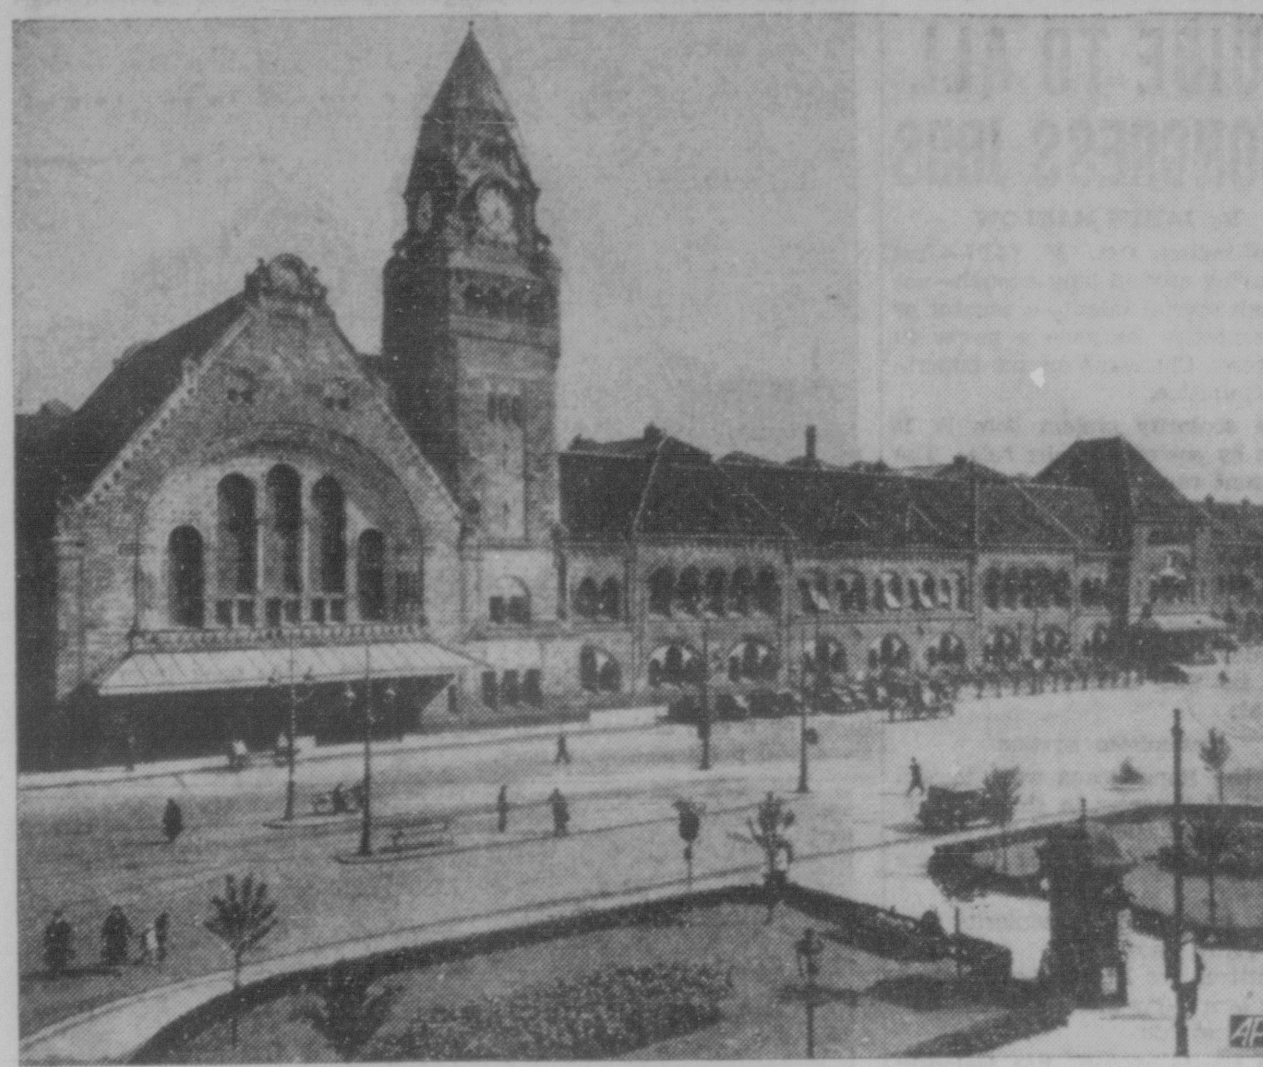

Milon Brown, a former supply and training officer in the United States Navy, has been named a training consultant for the Third U. S. Civil Service region, comprising the states of Pennsylvania and Delaware. It was announced today by C. D. Hertzig, regional director.

The new position was created by the commission to round out its functions as the central personnel agency for all Federal agencies, when the appointment of a training consultant in each of the U. S. Civil Service commission's 13 districts was authorized. All Federal agencies will have the opportunity of calling upon this service for assistance in planning, operating or evaluating their training programs.

Brown is a native of western Pennsylvania. He has for a number of years operated training programs for the Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction and several Federal agencies. During the last year he was commissioned as supply officer in the Navy and served at sea and as training officer in Washington, D. C., and the Naval Academy. He will be located in the offices of the Third U. S. Civil Service region, Customhouse, Second and Chestnut street, Philadelphia 6.

Electricity will be made available to an estimated 5,000,000 new rural consumers after the war.

Pottstown, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—U. S. Senator Joseph F. Guffey declared "the combination of the dressy little man in the hump hat and the blind isolationist"—Governor Dewey and Senator Davis—"will give us another return to normalcy, another panic, another depression and another war," last night in a political rally speech released by Democratic state headquarters.

Other speakers at the rally were: State Democratic Chairman David L. Lawrence, who said the campaign "is definitely on the upswing for Roosevelt."

High Prices Set On Toll Bridges

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—Efforts of the Commonwealth to take over 10 remaining toll bridges is at a standstill due to high prices submitted by owners of the spans, Highway Secretary John U. Shroyer said today.

Sale prices totalling nearly $9,000,000 were asked by owners last summer. Governor Martin declared at that time they were "too high," and said further negotiation was the next step.

As to prospects of the state taking over the spans under a $10,000,000 bond issue voted for that purpose some years ago, the highway secretary commented "I don't know."

Shroyer said 10 new bridges could be built cheaper than the sale prices offered. The spans are located at Harrisburg, Clark's Ferry, Point Marion, Allentown, Bethlehem, Ellwood City and Charleroi.

Smog Holds Up Pittsburgh Traffic

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (AP)—Dense smog today slowed traffic in downtown Pittsburgh and limited visibility in some places to 100 feet.

Street cars, buses and autos moved slowly, their headlights of little avail against the thick accumulation of smoke and fog. Motorists reported heavy soot collected on windshields.

ENGEL CHARGES "SUPPRESSION"

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Rep. Engel (R., Mich.) declared Tuesday that "it is apparent that President Franklin Roosevelt deliberately withheld (from Congress) vital information during the critical pre-war years and deprived our armed forces of much equipment."

This charge of suppressing "amazing and detailed reports" on growing German air power two years before Pearl Harbor, followed assertions by other Republicans that the administration is concealing other war information which might endanger President Roosevelt's fourth term chances.

It came shortly after an Army board sent to War Secretary Stimson a report of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The report, like one completed by Navy investigators last week, bore high secrecy classifications.

Rep. Maas (R., Minn.) contended in a St. Paul speech last week that the administration "is seeking to suppress" the Naval Board of Inquiry's investigation until after the election. Senator Ferguson (R., Mich.) likewise has called for publication.

"The President and high officials had word of the Pearl Harbor attack six months in advance and sent no warning," Maas said.

2—Energize your body with RICH, RED BLOOD!

Improper diet, overwork, undue worries, colds, flu or other illness often impairs the stomach's digestive functions and reduces the red-blood strength.

A person who is operating on only a 70 to 75% healthy blood volume or a stomach digestive capacity of only 50 to 60% normal is severely handicapped. At such times Nature needs extra help to restore its balance and function properly. Undigested food places a tax on the system. Insufficient blood strength is a detriment to good health.

If you are subject to poor digestion or suspect deficient red-blood as the cause of your trouble, yet have no organic complication or focal infection, SSS Tonic may be just what you need. SSS Tonic is especially designed (1) to promote the flow of VITAL DIGESTIVE JUICES in the stomach and (2) to build-up BLOOD STRENGTH when deficient. THE JOURNALIST

I can understand the enthusiasm with which writers for newspapers enter into their work. They are dealing with news, which is in the mind of us all. We all want to know what is going on, what moves are being made in the world, down to our own town and community, and to learn what people everywhere are thinking about.

Contact with people is the most thrilling of all contacts. The newspaper man is alive and has to keep his mind keen and alert. He is dealing with the greatest force in life—influencing thought. In a large sense he is a builder of ideas, of opinion, and is helping in many ways to do something that will make this a better world for all.

The newspaper may go through many changes—some may be very radical changes—but I do not believe that the newspaper will ever lose its power as an agency of information, nor its position as a leader in its locality for the better good of its community. People will always want to read the printed page, at a time when they are most relaxed, and at a time when they give their best thoughts to its interpretation of both the news and its editorial expression.

Among our greatest leaders have been those whose training, at some time or other, was in a newspaper office, where they came into in-imate contact with the thinking of the masses. Many of them have become legislators, and Governors of states, and one of them has become

President of the United States.

It would take a big book to hold the names of all those who have become famous writers who were formerly newspaper men. Their number is legion. One of America's greatest poets was once a newspaper editor—William Chittenden Bryant, and another of them have become magazine editors and publicists.

The training that a young man, or woman, gets upon a newspaper is invaluable, no matter what his or her later objective may be. Great is the power of the press and its possibilities for good!

SENIORITY IS

GUIDE TO ALL

CONGRESS JOBS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Just by staying around long enough—not through special talent—a senator or representative becomes a power in Congress; Chairman of an important committee.

The seniority system does it. It works by custom, not by rule. The President can't buck it. It's true of the Democrats now. It will be true of the Republicans if they win a majority of the congress seats Nov. 7.

President Roosevelt didn't mention the system in his speech last Saturday night—although that's what he was talking about—when he said:

Committee System

"If the Republicans were to win control of congress in this election, inexorable isolationists would occupy positions of commanding influence

x x x."

But, because of the seniority system, right now some important committees are headed by members of his own party who have been out-rigger against him.

The senate always has jealously made its own committee appointments. In the house the speaker controlled committees until 1911.

Since then the house members have been their own boss. It works like this:

Every congressional committee is made up of Democrats and Republicans and, in a few cases, of Independents. The party with a majority of the seats in the senate—or house—has a majority of the members on every committee.

How It Works

And the chairmanship of each committee goes to the majority party member who has been on that committee longest. For example:

The Democrats, with a majority of senate seats, have a majority of the members on the powerful foreign relations committee. Tom Connally of Texas is chairman.

A man with only five years in the senate might, in that time have become a member of a certain committee and moved up to chairman or ranking position. A man with 25 years in congress, if he now wanted to start on that committee, would have to get at the bottom: the 5-year man would be his senior.

There are about 11 major com-sense he is a builder—of ideas, of opinion, and is helping in many ways to do something that will make this a better world for all.

The newspaper may go through

many changes—some may be very radical changes—but I do not believe that the newspaper will ever lose its power as an agency of information, nor its position as a leader in its locality for the better good of its community. People will always want to read the printed page, at a time when they are most relaxed,

and at a time when they give their best thoughts to its interpretation of both the news and its editorial

expression.

Among our greatest leaders have been those whose training, at some time or other, was in a newspaper office, where they came into intimate contact with the thinking of the masses. Many of them have become legislators, and Governors of

states, and one of them has become

President of the United States.

It would take a big book to hold the names of all those who have become famous writers who were formerly newspaper men. Their number is legion. One of America's greatest poets was once a newspaper editor—William Cullen Bryant, and any number of them have become magazine editors and publicists.

The training that a young man, or woman, gets upon a newspaper is invaluable, no matter what his or her later objective may be. Great is the power of the press, and its possibility for good!

Just Folks

NOW AND SOON

'Twixt Now and Soon a chasm lies
Which youth must bridge with enterprise.

Upon the near side old men stay,
To warn the daring young way.

"Road's End!" the signs they've posted show,
'Tis dangerous further on to go.

Now marked and known is every turn,
There's nothing more to gain or learn.

But, youth, press on, Tomorrow's sun
Will shine on work that's just begun.

Leave Now behind, and dare to see
The wonders that are Soon to be.

Face forward, morning, night and noon
And bridge that gap 'twixt Now and Soon.

Today's Talk

THE JOURNALIST

I can understand the enthusiasm with which writers for newspapers enter into their work. They are dealing with news, which is in the mind of us all. We all want to know what is going on, what moves are being made in the world, down to our own town and community, and to learn what people everywhere are thinking about.

Contact with people is the most thrilling of all contacts. The newspaper man is alive and has to keep his mind keen and alert. He is dealing with the greatest force in life—influencing thought. In a large sense he is a builder—of ideas, of opinion, and is helping in many ways to do something that will make this a better world for all.

The newspaper may go through many changes—some may be very radical changes—but I do not believe that the newspaper will ever lose its power as an agency of information, nor its position as a leader in its locality for the better good of its community. SENIORITY IS GUIDE TO ALL CONGRESS JOBS

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—Just by staying around long enough—not through special talent—a senator or representative becomes a power in Congress: Chairman of an important committee.

The seniority system does it. It works by custom, not by rule. The President can't buck it. It's true of the Democrats now. It will be true of the Republicans if they win a majority of the congress seats Nov. 7.

President Roosevelt didn't mention the system in his speech last Saturday night—although that's what he was talking about—when he said:

Committee System

"If the Republicans were to win control of congress in this election, inveterate isolationists would occupy positions of commanding influence x x x."

But, because of the seniority system, right now some important committees are headed by members of his own party who have been bitter against him.

The senate always has jealously made its own committee appointments. In the house the speaker controlled committees until 1911. Since then the house members have been their own boss. It works like this:

Every congressional committee is made up of Democrats and Republicans and, in a few cases, of Independents. The party with a majority of the seats in the senate—or house—has a majority of the members on every committee.

How It Works

And the chairmanship of each committee goes to the majority party member who has been on that committee longest. For example:

The Democrats, with a majority of senate seats, have a majority of the members on the powerful foreign relations committee. Tom Connally of Texas is chairman.

A man with only five years in the senate might, in that time, have become a member of a certain committee and moved up to chairman or ranking position. A man with 25 years in congress, if he now wanted to get on that committee, would have to start at the bottom, the 5-year man would be his senior.

There are about 11 major committees in the senate. The average age and length of service of those committees' Democratic chairman and ranking Republican members show that it takes time to move into the big boys.

Southerners Stay Longer

Seven of those 11 committees are headed by southerners. In the house there are 9 major committees. Five of them are headed by southerners. Why do southerners dominate the key committees in both houses?

They've been around longer. The south, where there is no real Republican opposition, has a habit of repeatedly sending its same congressmen back to Washington.

The senate committees mentioned here are: Agriculture and forestry, appropriations, banking and currency, commerce, finance, foreign relations, interstate commerce, military affairs, naval affairs, judiciary, and post offices and post roads.

The house committees are: Agriculture, appropriations, banking and currency, foreign affairs, interstate and foreign commerce, military affairs, naval affairs, rules, and ways and means.

Fala Accompanies President

Chicago, Oct. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt's black Scottie, Fala, looks back from the front seat at his master as the President, touring rain-swept New York city in an open car, makes a brief stop during his round of military inspections and political appearances.

Asserting he had read the Republican standard bearer's foreign policy speech at Minneapolis and reports on Dewey's press conference there, Truman handed reporters a statement which said:

"Just as I feared, Mr. Dewey has neither the courage nor the honesty to tell the American people what he intends to do about those eight Republican isolationists whose public utterances and voting records brand them as isolationists and untrustworthy on foreign affairs."

"Mr. Dewey is hiding under the bed, afraid to answer that question. Instead of giving the American people a plain answer, he refused to answer reporters when they asked where he stood."

Guerilla Warfare Spreads In Spain

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Despite assertions by Spanish Republicans in London that guerrilla warfare to overthrow the Franco government is spreading throughout Spain, the Madrid radio declared Tuesday that Spanish troops are successfully dealing with insurrectionists who have filtered across the border from France.

"In general," said a broadcast by the Spanish National Radio, "it seems that the infiltration of Spanish Reds into Navarra can be considered over, as many of them are surrendering without arms. When taken prisoners, all express disappointment at not finding conditions favoring formation of a so-called army of liberation."

The broadcast added that some "fugitives still are roaming through the mountains of Navarra," but said most of these were being closely pursued by Spanish troops.

American forces, Madrid asserted, disarmed several groups of Spanish "Reds" who retreated into southern France after clashes with the Spanish army.

Factory Workers Hear Bombs' Toll

Tunnelton, Pa., Oct. 15 (AP)—Col. Victor C. Searle of the chemical warfare service, speaking at the presentation of an Army-Navy "E" award to employees at Plant No. 3 Federal Laboratories, Inc., yesterday, told the workers:

"You and the millions of other workers in all of industry must continue your production relentlessly, adjusting it to the changing needs of battle, so that our enemies will be given no rest until they are totally crushed."

Col. Searle said incendiary bombs produced in this Indiana county town helped in destruction of Nazi robot bomb sites and fired the Ploesti oil fields.

ACCUSES DEWEY OF "DODGING"

Chicago, Oct. 25 (AP)—Senator Harry S. Truman said in a statement here today that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey is "hiding under the bed" having "neither the courage nor the honesty" to reply to a suggestion that he call for the defeat of eight Republican Senators whom the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee termed "isolationists."

Truman, in the midst of a transcontinental campaign for President Roosevelt, went into seclusion at a hotel to put the finishing touches on a major speech he will deliver tomorrow night at Peoria, Ill., on farm policies before starting on a new schedule that will carry him to New York October 31 for a Democratic rally in Madison Square Garden.

Asserting he had read the Republican standard bearer's foreign policy speech at Minneapolis and reports on Dewey's press conference there, Truman handed reporters a statement which said:

"Just as I feared, Mr. Dewey has neither the courage nor the honesty to tell the American people what he intends to do about those eight Republican isolationists whose public utterances and voting records brand them as isolationists and untrustworthy on foreign affairs."

"Mr. Dewey is hiding under the bed, afraid to answer that question. Instead of giving the American people a plain answer, he refused to answer reporters when they asked where he stood."

Slovak Catholics Hold Convention

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Slovak Catholic federation of America opened its thirtieth annual convention today at St. Matthew's church with nearly 300 delegates attending, many of them priests and prelates.

The convention will discuss a proposal for formation of a Slovak Catholic veteran group by the 60,000 Slovak men and women affiliated with the federation who are now in the armed service.

Industry Should Reconvert Without Federal 'Shackles'

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 25 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker declared today that industry should be allowed to resume peacetime production as soon as possible and without government "shackles."

The Republican Vice Presidential nominee, in a prepared speech released by his campaign staff, quoted Vice President Wallace as remarking:

"I don't see how we can get re-conversion accomplished without disastrous consequences unless the government steps in as it did in conversion."

The Ohio governor, contending that "New Deal restraints" had prevented all-out production early in the war, added:

"If the government steps into postwar production, as it did into war production, Mr. Hopkins and Mr. Morgenthau will be playing with the destiny of American labor and industrial management to the tune called by Sidney Hillman and Earl Browder."

He asserted that Hillman, chairman of the Political Action Committee, and Browder, director of the Communist Political Association, "want American business harassed and hatched."

Do you feel tired—listless? ☐

Do you feel headachy and upset due to poorly digested food? To feel cheerful and happy again your food must be digested properly.

Each day, Nature must produce about two pints of a vital digestive juice to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested—leaving you headachy and irritable.

Therefore, you must increase the flow of this digestive juice. Carter's Little Liver Pills increase this flow quickly—often in as little as 30 minutes. And, you're on the road to feeling better.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's Little Liver Pills aid digestion after Nature's own order. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills as directed. Get them at any drugstore. Only 10¢ and 25¢.

Pa. Dutchmen Understand Germans

Pittsburgh, Oct. 25 (AP)—The official Army interpreter couldn't understand some German farmers being evacuated from along the Siegfried line, but Lt. Col. Ellis Keller of Pennsylvania could.

"They talked Plattdeutsch, just like our Pennsylvania Dutch back home," said Col. Keller, and "anybody from Center County could understand them perfectly."

Colonel Keller, nephew of Superior Court Judge William H. Keller, had the job of evacuating the farmers from a village near Luxembourg because the group was too close to the battle zone for their own safety. The task fell to him as civilian affairs officer.

He said the farmers asserted "the Germans burn and kill, but the worst you do is take souvenirs."

BOTTLENECKING VITAL WAR CALLS!

If you have party-line service, you can prevent a jam-up of already overloaded telephone lines by showing more consideration and thoughtfulness of other subscribers who might be waiting to call, or to receive a call. So.

- Be brief. You might delay war calls.
- Allow reasonable intervals between calls.
- Give party time to answer.
- Ask the children to co-operate.

Don't bottleneck the war effort...think of the other party.

TERCENTENARY OF WM. PENN IS OBSERVED

Philadelphia, Oct. 25 (AP)—Climaxing the worldwide observation of the 300th anniversary of the birth of William Penn, the British ambassador to the United States, a U. S. Supreme Court Justice, the governors of Pennsylvania and New Jersey and the chief justice of Delaware spoke last night at a program in the Academy of Music here.

Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, declared that any international order which the United Nations may establish "should represent justice, but it must be justice so armed as to be beyond challenge."

"Peace," he said, "can never be merely the absence of war." He urged a peace based on many of the principles set down by Penn, who, he said, "turned his mind to the problems which were being debated at Dumbarton Oaks many years before any of the other representatives had thought of paying attention to them."

Governor Presides

Injustices and resultant war arise from the people rather than from nations, Lord Halifax said. "A multitude of little wrongs by inconspicuous men and women may pave the approach to some crowning infamy which spells a people's doom."

Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts paid tribute to Penn for "his part in fixing the nature of trial by jury in the English-speaking world, his conception and execution of a plan of colonial government in the western shores of the Atlantic and his projects for the future peace of Europe."

Governor Edward Martin of Pennsylvania presided at the meeting which was sponsored by the William Penn Tercentenary Committee. He dealt, as did the other speakers, with Penn's "essay towards the present and future peace of Europe," written 250 years ago. He called it "a plea for eternal peace among the nations."

"We know, as Penn knew, that great ideals cannot be made secure by force alone," he said. "Religion does not succeed through fear. Peace can come only when men live righteously and honorably, one with another."

Governor Walter Edge of New Jersey suggested that "at the close of the present conflict if we succeed in freeing the thinking of the people of the world from the bonds of Fascism and Nazism as well as did William Penn, then assuredly we will win the peace."

Chief Justice Daniel J. Layton of Delaware said: "It was clear to Penn that mere forms of government were secondary. The primary consideration was the character of the man who administered the government."

Third Army Hit By 11-Inch Shells

With the U. S. Third Army in France, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Germans lobbed from 16 to 20 11-inch shells into the American Third Army area Tuesday, causing some damage and casualties.

The projectiles, weighing around 700 pounds, are believed to have come from railway guns having a range of about 30 miles. The bombardment was made under the cover of rain and heavy clouds to escape aerial observation.

The first dent in the high morale of a group of German officer candidates taken from a school in Metz to go into the front lines was noted near Amanvillers, five miles northwest of Metz, when 11 surrendered voluntarily after being bombarded with leaflets.

BATTLE RAGES ON E. PRUSSIAN FRONT TODAY

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Germany announced officially today a new Russian offensive along the Narew river in Poland between Warsaw and the southern boundary of invaded East Prussia.

By DANIEL DE LUCE.

Moscow, Oct. 25 (AP)—Both the Russian and German high commands threw fresh armor and infantry into the battle of east Prussia today. Fighting blazed at white heat along a front of more than 150 miles extending from the Baltic mouth of the Nieman river to the southwestern edge of the Suwalki triangle.

Front dispatches said that two famous enemy panzer formations—the Hermann Goering and S. S. Greater Germany, defenders of Warsaw in August—were among four tank divisions committed to battle by the Germans in costly counterattacks against a Soviet salient some 15 miles from Insterburg and 70 miles from Konigsberg.

The sky over Insterburg was reported black with smoke rising from fires set by repeated Soviet air raids.

Advance in Hungary

Hitler's forces appeared to have steadied before the Red army's powerful offensive through east Prussia, but the Russians announced capture of at least 14 additional German towns and disclosed a new thrust toward the Province from the southeast.

The new pressure on the home of German militarism was exerted from the region of Augustow, Polish border stronghold, which a Soviet communique claimed was captured.

The Russians also advanced in Hungary, capturing Kiskunhalas, 70 miles south of Budapest, overwhelmed the big Czechoslovak town of Huszt (Chust) and ten other centers in the Carpatho-Ukraine district, and with Romanian help broke into Satu-mare, last big city held by the enemy in Transylvania.

East Prussian fighting, described as the most bitter since Stalingrad, was reported heaviest in the area around Goldap, the point of deepest Russian penetration of East Prussia, and south of Rumbinnen, strategic junction.

New Willkie Letter Published Tuesday

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 21 (AP)—A letter purportedly written by the late Wendell L. Willkie in which he said he had dedicated himself "to the removal of the present administration from office" was made public here Tuesday.

The 1940 Republican Presidential nominee's letter, written on Willkie's stationery and dated May 5, 1944, said:

"x x x I am and have been dedicated to the removal of the present administration from office, but I firmly believe, the only way this can be accomplished is for the Republican party to measure up to the responsibility it is seeking."

"No one can be more anxious than I am for the party to so measure up and no one will work harder than I will to bring this about x x x."

The Willkie letter, made public today, was addressed to Earl L. Jolly, general agent for an insurance firm in Evansville, Ind., who submitted a photostatic copy of it to Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the Indianapolis Star. The letter was published today in the Star.

to express the hope that the organization I led for Wendell Willkie in the last campaign will join me in the battle being waged against the fourth term candidate."

Earlier, addressing Westmoreland county leaders at Greensburg, Harman said that "with few exceptions," every Willkie club chairman in the state has endorsed Dewey.

Willkie Leader Backing Dewey

Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—The 1940 chairman of the Associated Willkie clubs of Pennsylvania, William H. Harman of Philadelphia, is appealing to all former Willkie followers to support the candidacy of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Harman, addressing Central Pennsylvania leaders here last night, said:

"I personally am supporting the Republican candidates, and I wish

Super-Coaches like this are coming, sure as Victory. BATTLE RAGES ON E. PRUSSIAN FRONT TODAY

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—German many announced officially today a new Russian offensive along the Narew river in Poland between Warsaw and the southern boundary of invaded East Prussia.

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Moscow, Oct. 25 (AP)—Both the Russian and German high commands threw fresh armor and infantry into the battle of east Prussia today. Fighting blazed at white heat along a front of more than 150 miles extending from the Baltic mouth of the Nieman river to the southwestern edge of the Suwalki triangle.

Front dispatches said that two famous enemy panzer formations—the Hermann Goering and S. S. Greater Germany, defenders of Warsaw in August—were among four tank divisions committed to battle by the Germans in costly counterattacks against Soviet salient some 15 miles from Insterburg and 70 miles from Königsberg.

The sky over Insterburg was reported black with smoke rising from fires set by repeated Soviet air raids.

Advance in Hungary

Hitler's forces appeared to have steadied before the Red army's powerful offensive through east Prussia, but the Russians announced capture of at least 14 additional German towns and disclosed a new thrust toward the Province from the southeast.

The new pressure on the home of German militarism was exerted from the region of Augustów, Polish border stronghold, which a Soviet communiqué claimed was captured.

The Russians also advanced in Hungary, capturing Kiskunhalas, 70 miles south of Budapest, overwhelmed the big Czechoslovak town of Huszt (Chust) and ten other centers in the Carpatho-Ukraine district, and with Romanian help broke into Satu-mare, last big city held by the enemy in Transylvania.

East Prussian fighting, described as the most bitter since Stalingrad, was reported heaviest in the area around Goldap, the point of deepest Russian penetration of East Prussia, and south of Rumbinnen, strategic junction.

Willkie Leader Backing Dewey

Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 25 (AP)—The 1940 chairman of the Associated Willkie clubs of Pennsylvania, William H. Harman of Philadelphia, is appealing to all former Willkie followers to support the candidacy of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Harman, addressing Central Pennsylvania leaders here last night, said:

New Willkie Letter Published Tuesday

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 24 (AP)—A letter purportedly written by the late Wendell L. Willkie in which he said he had dedicated himself "to the removal of the present administration from office" was made public here Tuesday.

The 1940 Republican Presidential nominee's letter, written on Willkie's stationery and dated May 5, 1944, said:

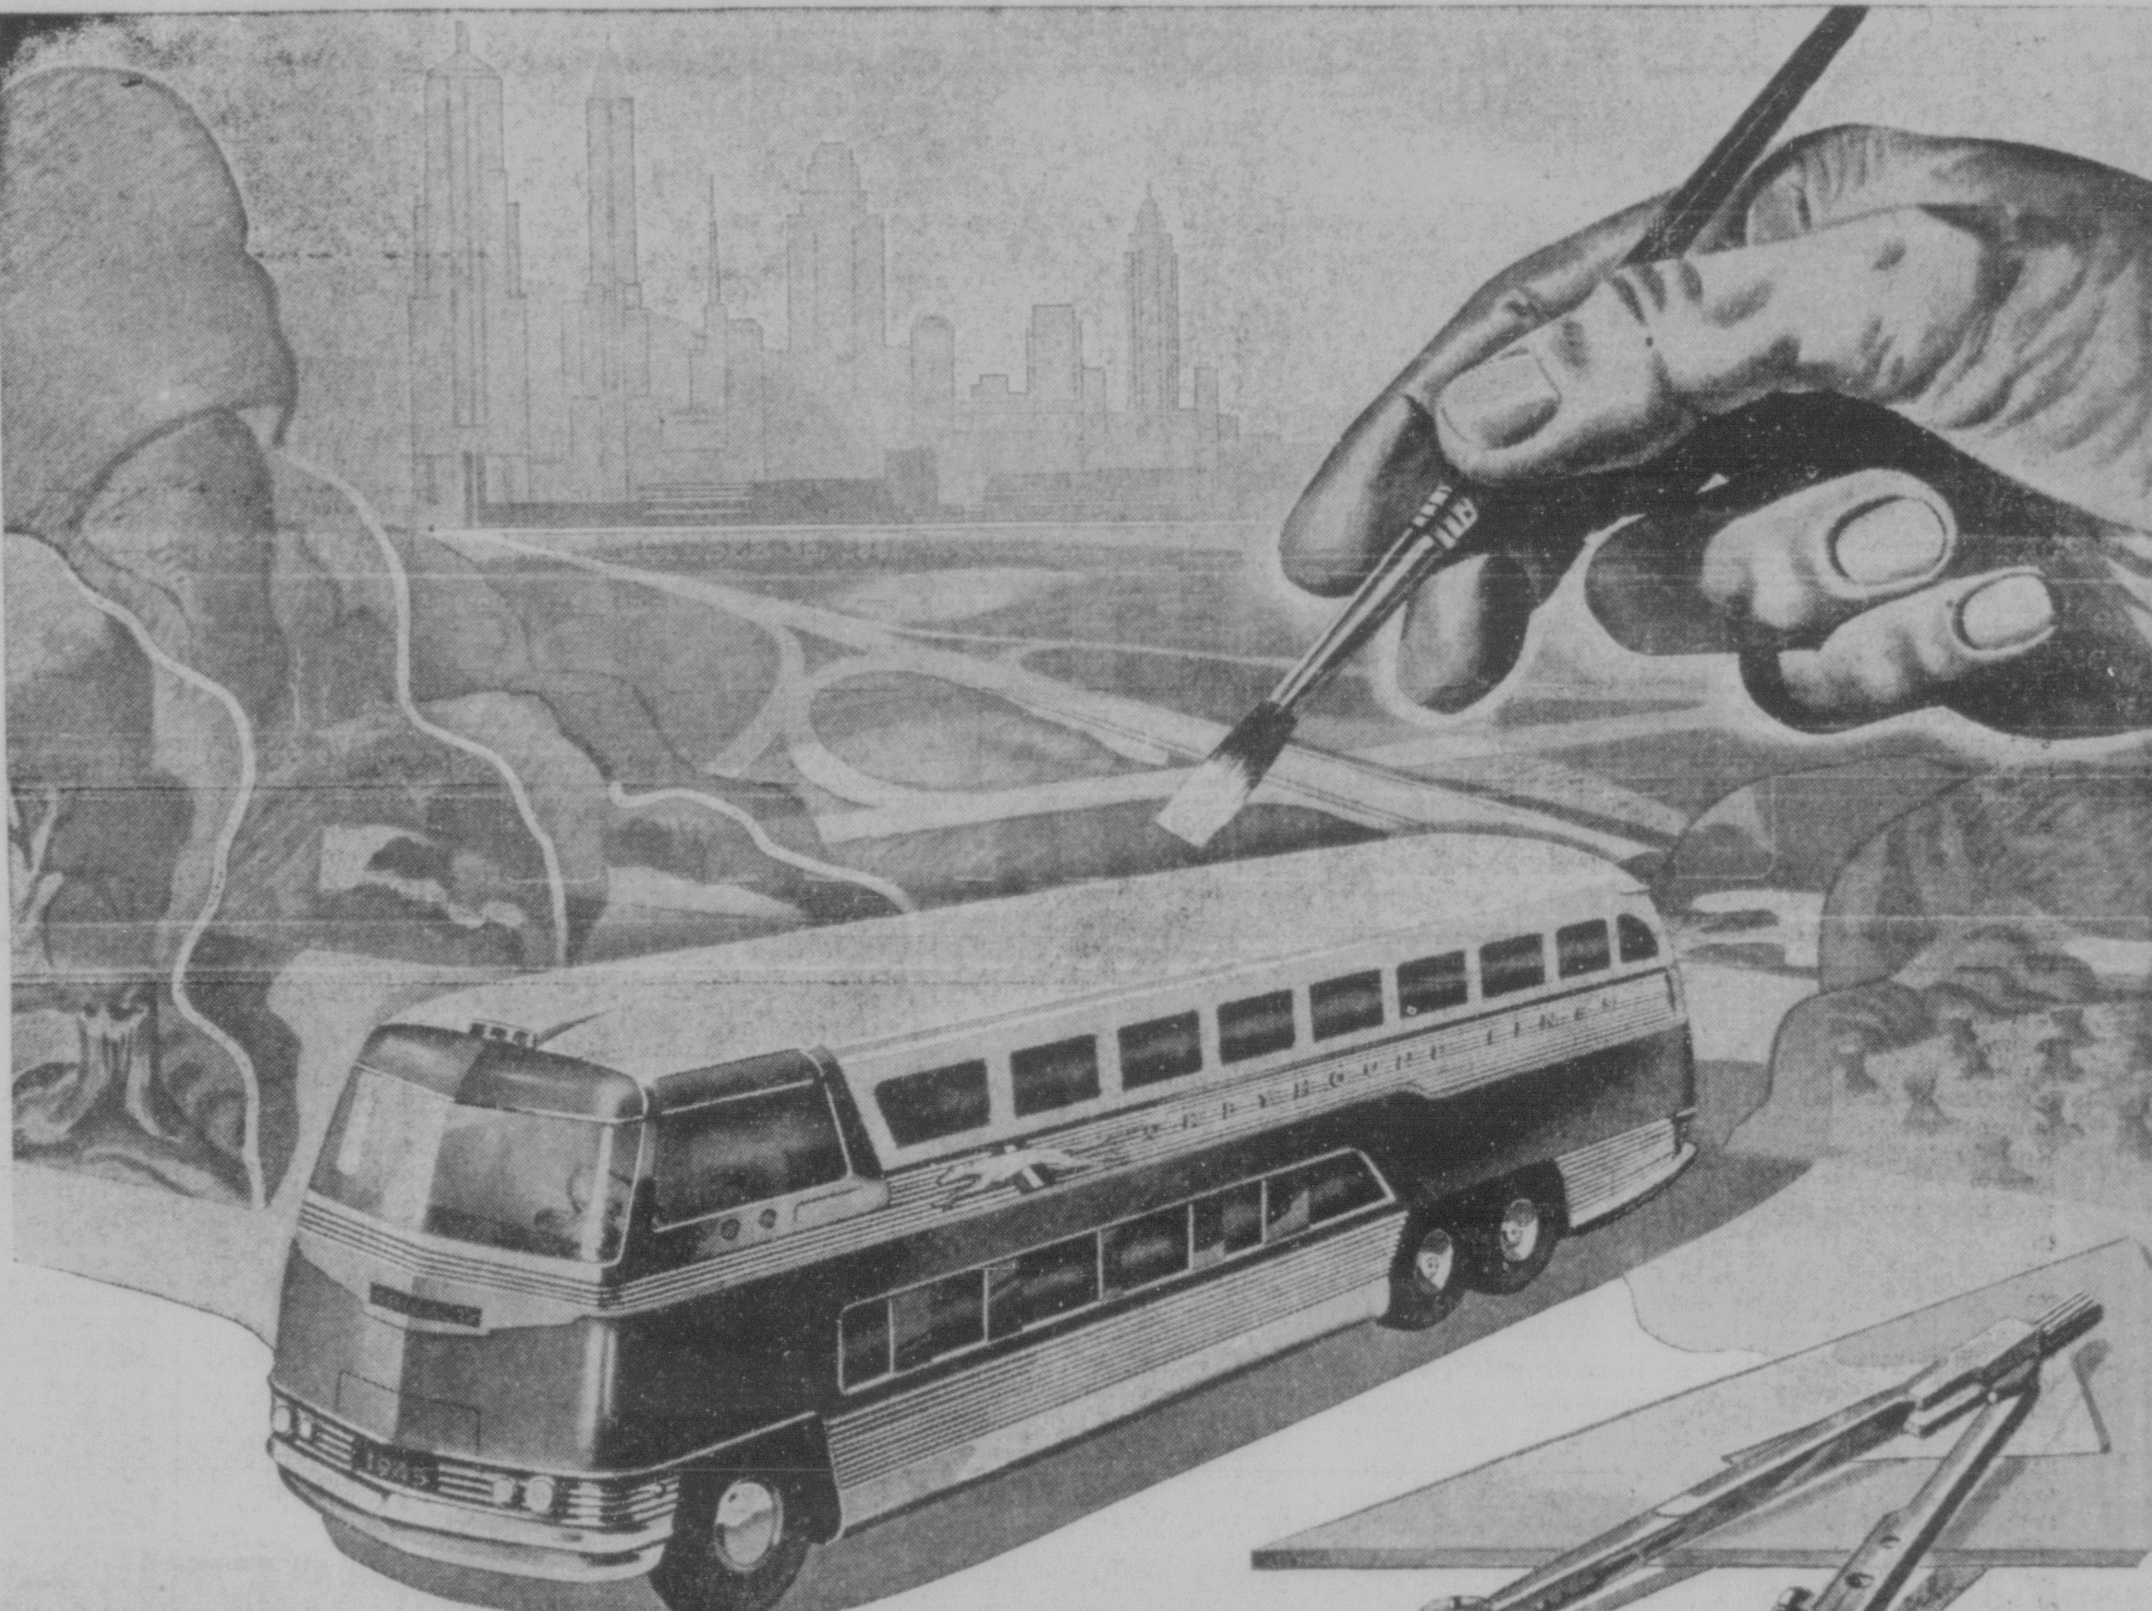

"x x x I am and have been dedicated to the removal of the present administration from office, but I firmly believe the only way this can be accomplished is for the Republican party to measure up to the responsibility it is seeking."

"No one can be more anxious than I am for the party to so measure up and no one will work harder than I will to bring this about x x x."

The Willkie letter, made public today, was addressed to Earl L. Jolly, general agent for an insurance firm in Evansville, Ind., who submitted a photostatic copy of it to Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of the Indianapolis Star. The letter was published today in the Star.

to express the hope that the organization I led for Wendell Willkie in the last campaign will join me in the battle being waged against the fourth term candidate."

Earlier, addressing Westmoreland county leaders at Greensburg, Harman said that "with few exceptions," every Willkie club chairman in the state has endorsed Dewey.

Shaping up NOW

—for the day when "Highways are Happy Ways" again!

Tomorrow's "dream bus" is much more than a dream. It is shaping up today, in full scale models that will soon be translated into gleaming fluted metal, curved plastic glass, new type chairs built for long-trip relaxation—many features of comfort and efficiency we can't even talk about now.

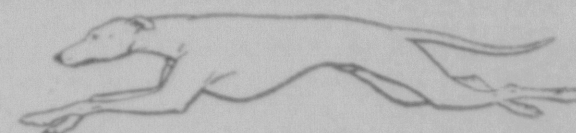

Super-Coaches like this are coming, sure as Victory. Greyhound will pioneer in their design and will make all possible speed in their construction—without relaxing, for one moment, its full-time job of carrying war manpower. These startling new buses will not only replace equipment overworked by the extreme pressure of wartime travel—they'll give eleven million returning Service men and women (and travel-hungry millions at home) a more delightful way to see and enjoy "This Amazing America." It all adds up to this: the day is on its way when "Highways are Happy Ways" again!

CONGRESS MUST FIX TERMS OF PEACE; DEWEY

By JACK BELL
Enroute With Dewey, Oct. 25
(AP)—Picturing President Roosevelt as heading toward a "disastrous conflict" with legislators over the peace, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey wrote into the Presidential campaign record today a declaration that Congress alone must determine the extent to which the United States would furnish armed forces to quell future aggression.

Declaring against any United States restrictions nullifying the power of an international security organization, the Republican nominee said in an address at Minneapolis last night this meant that the American delegate to any such council must not be "subject to a reservation that would require our representative to return to Congress for authority every time he had to make a decision."

But, Dewey told cheering Minnesotans who stood in the aisles and filled every one of the 10,000 seats in the Minneapolis municipal auditorium, that only Congress has the constitutional power to determine what quota of American forces would be made available to an international organization "and what discretion it will give our representative to use that force."

"Warred With Congress"
"It is clear that if the world organization is to have any reality at all, our representative must be endowed in advance by the people themselves, by constitutional means through their representative in Congress, with authority to act."

In Minneapolis last night, Dewey declared that President Roosevelt has "warred with Congress at every turn" and has "insulted its integrity." There were shrill whistles as he said that members had "learned the bitter lesson that legislation asked for one purpose is twisted to another."

Asserting that the President had erected a "sad foundation" for dealing with future Congresses, Dewey told his Minneapolis listeners:

"To Discuss 'Moral Issues'"
"I have not the slightest doubt that a Congress which is working in partnership with the President will achieve the result we all consider essential and grant adequate power for swift action to the American representative to an international organization."

"But those who attempt to ride rough-shod over Congress and to dictate the course it should follow before it has even been acquainted with the facts are trifling with the hope of the world," he declared.

"They are deliberately, in my judgment, seeking to precipitate a hardening of minds. If this stubborn course is pursued, it can only result once again as in 1919, in a disastrous conflict between the President and the Congress. To that I will never be a party."

Paul Lockwood, Dewey's secretary, announced the topic of tonight's speech at 9 p. m., Eastern War Time, in Chicago would be "The Moral Issues in This Election." Aides said he also would talk about "further distortions of the record."

FDR SCHEDULES MORE SPEECHES

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt's fourth term bid took on the trappings of a full-production political road show today, with the President scheduled for train platform appearances, speeches and automobile tours on a two-day swing to the Middle West.

The trip will wind up Saturday night with a speech in Chicago's Soldier Field—24 hours after the President speaks in Shibe Park, Philadelphia. Both addresses will be broadcast nationally.

In connection with this activity, Mr. Roosevelt told his news conference yesterday that reputable newspapers are misquoting his statement that he'd have no time for politics in the usual sense this year. They are leaving out an important "except," he said, his promise to go to the people "to correct any misrepresentations."

Consequently he left the inference that his Friday-Saturday trip will be to handle things he regards as misrepresentations made by his Republican opposition.

In addition to his Philadelphia and Chicago speeches, the President will make a train platform speech at Wilmington, Del., Friday morning, will drive to Camden, N. J., during the day and make an automobile tour of the town square, and inspect the Camp Ship Tank in Philadelphia.

MURRAY TO BROADCAST
Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—A speech that Philip Murray, president of the CIO, is expected to make at a dinner of the Central Democratic club of Harrisburg on Nov. 1 will be broadcast by the Pennsylvania Citizens Political Action committee, it was announced today by John A. Phillips, State PAC chairman.

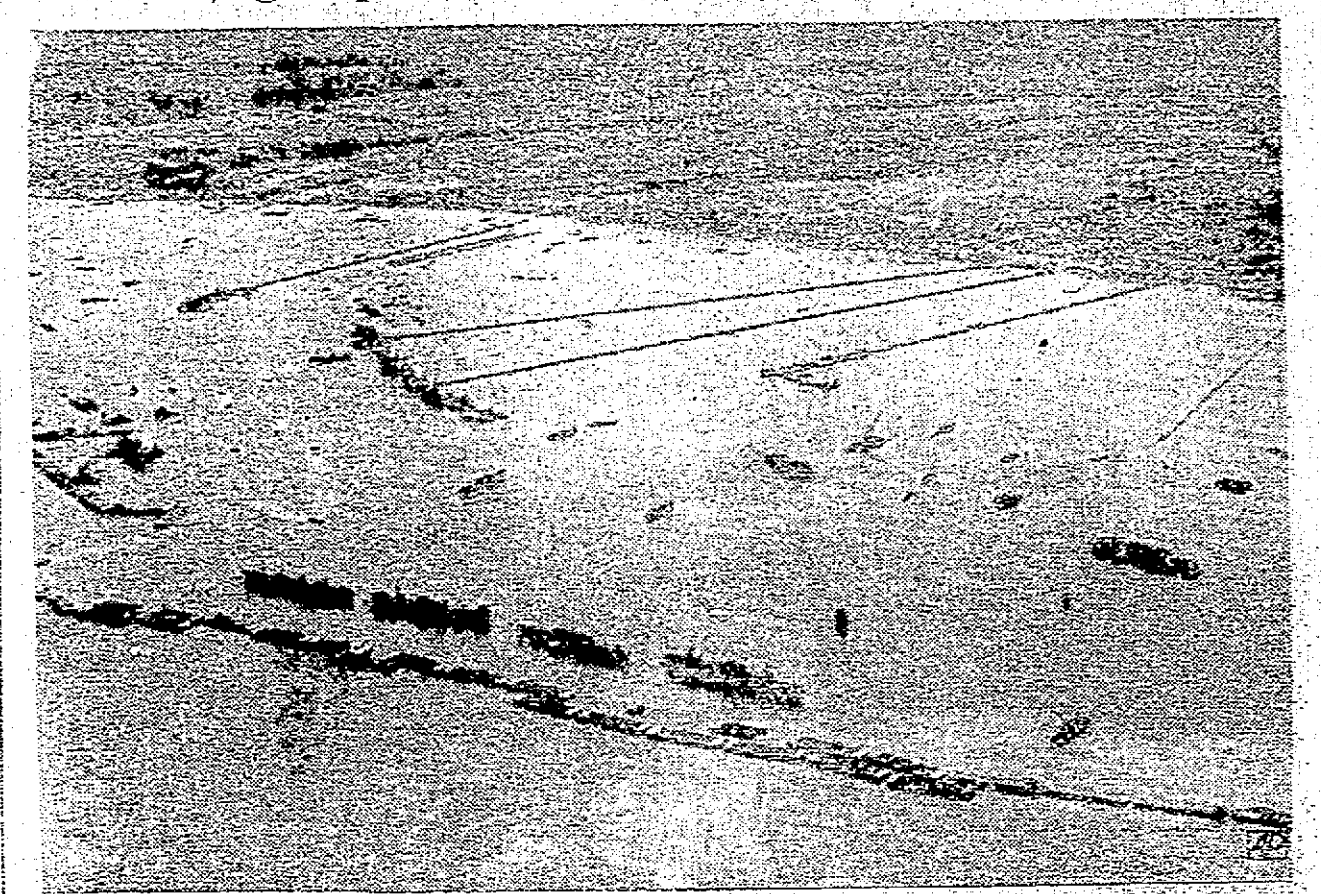

Philadelphia, Oct. 25 (AP)—The thermometer registered 31 degrees early today, the coldest Oct. 25 in the history of the Philadelphia weather bureau.

Scene Of Desolation In Aachen Street

A civilian and two stray horses pick their way through a street in Aachen, Germany, strewn with debris and deserted of its civilian population. Most of the civilians had fled to the safety afforded behind the American lines. This photo was made by Harry Harris, Associated Press photographer with the war-time still picture pool.

Big Ships Unload Cargos At Synthetic Harbor

This is an aerial view of the British prefabricated harbor which was set up off the coast of Normandy during the invasion operations in June. In the foreground are Liberty ships at moorings inside the concrete caisson breakwater, which were sunk in a chain-like row to form the perimeter of the harbor. Two floating pier roadways run out from the shore to seven spud piers joined together to form a wharf (center), while other piersways run to LST and barge piers. The harbor is the size of Dover, England, and was towed across the English Channel in sections. By mid-July it was in full operation, sending streams of supplies rolling ashore to the Allied forces fighting the Germans. This is a British official photo.

JAPS SOUGHT TO END INVASION OF PHILIPPINES

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

While details of the sea-air battle off the Philippines between strong Japanese forces and units of Admiral William F. Halsey's U. S. Third Fleet leave much to the imagination, it's clear that a major engagement is under way.

An official communique from Pearl Harbor also indicates that the advantage rests heavily with the American fleet notwithstanding.

Whether this may develop into THE great naval engagement for which the world has been waiting remains to be seen. We can at least say that this clash of giants, which began Monday and is continuing, may prove to be the decisive engagement of the Philippine invasion.

Sought Death Blow

The significance of this battle is that the Mikado's forces were aiming to deal a death blow to General MacArthur's invasion of Leyte island in the heart of the Philippine archipelago. They hoped to destroy the convoys of supplies and troops which are pouring in to him, and then smash the American expedition which already is ashore and getting ahead well with the job of overrunning this strategic key to the whole archipelago.

It's quite on the cards that more than one engagement is raging. Japanese naval forces approached Leyte through both the Sulu and the Sulu Seas.

These Nipponese fleets contained powerful units, for Admiral Nimitz's headquarters at Pearl Harbor has announced that the U. S. Third fleet has sunk a large Japanese carrier, and damaged two other large carriers, five or six battleships, one cruiser and several unidentified warships. So the Japs moved a lot of heavy stuff out for the attack.

Complete Confidence

A decisive American victory in this battle would vastly expedite our task of reclaiming the Philippines. The corollary to that must be that it would greatly shorten the war with Japan, for less of this great archipelago will so divide the Mikado's empire and his conquests that his war effort will be crippled.

At present engagement naturally means that moments for those who are waiting for news back here at home. However, the Allies have every reason for complete confidence CORINTH CONFERENCE—A British Tommy confers with a dressed-up Greek in Corinth shortly after British moved in.

FRIENDLY GAME—Shirley Temple plays gin rummy in her Hollywood dressing room with Pvt. Andy Hotchkiss, on furlough from Truxa Field, Madison, Wis. They are old friends.

In the American fighting forces in the Pacific, Admiral Halsey, upon whose fleet appears to rest the weight of this engagement, is a grand skipper. He's daring but not rash, and is one of the most inspiring leaders of this war.

Now Dr. Peter Fay Nippon actually Halsey's fleet has been hunting the Jap fleet—trying to turn it into coming out to fight for a long time. He has dangled innumerable sensational island attacks under the noses of the Nipponese in the hope that he could make 'em mad enough to risk their main fleet in action. Always, of course, while he has been carrying on his bear-baiting he has had Yankee naval units not far away, ready to rush in for the kill if the Japs accepted battle. Up to this juncture, however, the Nipponese have kept their big home fleet under cover and it has been evident that they didn't intend to risk it excepting as a last resort. They've been holding it for defense of the homeland. Whether the Japanese war lords have at long last decided to risk a sizeable part of their main fleet, the fact remains that the Pacific war has reached its crisis. It's now or never for complete confidence

Entomologist Exterminating Nests Of Nazis In Aachen Ruins

By HAL BOYLE

Aachen, Germany, Oct. 17 (Delayed) (AP)—In 1932, Derrill M. Daniel was cleaning up the last details of his doctor of philosophy thesis—a little opus entitled: "Macrococcus Anceps, a Polymorphic Braconid Parasite of the Oriental Fruit Moth."

"It is a native of New Jersey," drily observed Lt. Col. Daniel, who now is cleaning up Aachen, first large German city to Aachen, under a land attack.

This 39-year-old entomologist turned soldier has done a lot of fighting since he left his research post at the New York state experiment station, Geneva, N. Y., in 1940.

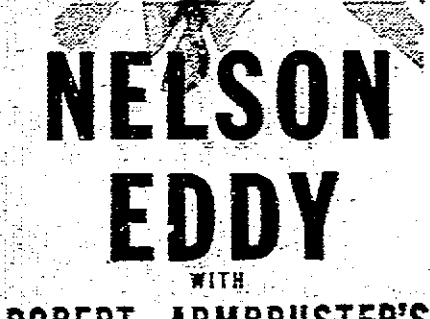

He is a four-time hero. He won the Silver Star and cluster in Tunisia and has added other clusters to this medal for gallantry in action at Troina, Italy, and near Caumont, France.

No Night Attacks
But he has found the mopping up of a town of 160,000 people to be a completely different experience from campaigning in African deserts and the Sicilian hills.

"It was all wide open stuff down there," said Daniel, a light-eyed soldier of medium size who still speaks with the measured drawl of his old home town of Kingstree, S. C.

"We used to attack at night. Here, we cannot do that because these house-to-house battles are a series of closely knit individual engagements. You have to be able to see what you are doing. Otherwise we would kill more of our men than we would of the enemy."

"When we fought in open country we could figure pretty well where we would find resistance. In this city you cannot locate the position of machine gunners or snipers until right on top of them. That makes it harder on the soldiers' nerves."

"Warred With Congress"
"It is clear that if the world organization is to have any reality at all, our representative must be endowed in advance by the people themselves, by constitutional means through their representative in Congress, with authority to act."

In Minneapolis last night, Dewey declared that President Roosevelt has "warred with Congress at every turn" and has "insulted its integrity." There were shrill whistles as he said that members had "learned the bitter lesson that legislation asked for one purpose is twisted to another."

Asserting that the President had erected a "sad foundation" for dealing with future Congresses, Dewey told his Minneapolis listeners:

To Discuss "Moral Issues"
"I have not the slightest doubt that a Congress which is working in partnership with the President will achieve the result we all consider essential and grant adequate power for swift action to the American representative (to an international organization)."

"But those who attempt to ride rough-shod over Congress and to dictate the course it should follow before it has ever been acquainted with the facts are trifling with the hope of the world," he declared.

"They are deliberately, in my judgment, seeking to precipitate a hardening of minds. If this stubborn course is pursued, it can only result once again as in 1919, in a disastrous conflict between the President and the Congress. To that I will never be a party."

Paul Lockwood, Dewey's secretary, announced the topic of tonight's speech at 9 p. m., Eastern War Time, in Chicago would be "The Moral Issues in This Election." Aides said he also would talk about "further distortions of the record."

FDR SCHEDULES MORE SPEECHES

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt's fourth term bid took on the trappings of a full-production political road show today, with the President scheduled for train platform appearances, speeches and automobile tours on a two-day swing to the Middle West.

The trip will wind up Saturday night with a speech in Chicago's Soldier Field—24 hours after the President speaks in Sluibe Park, Philadelphia. Both addresses will be broadcast nationally.

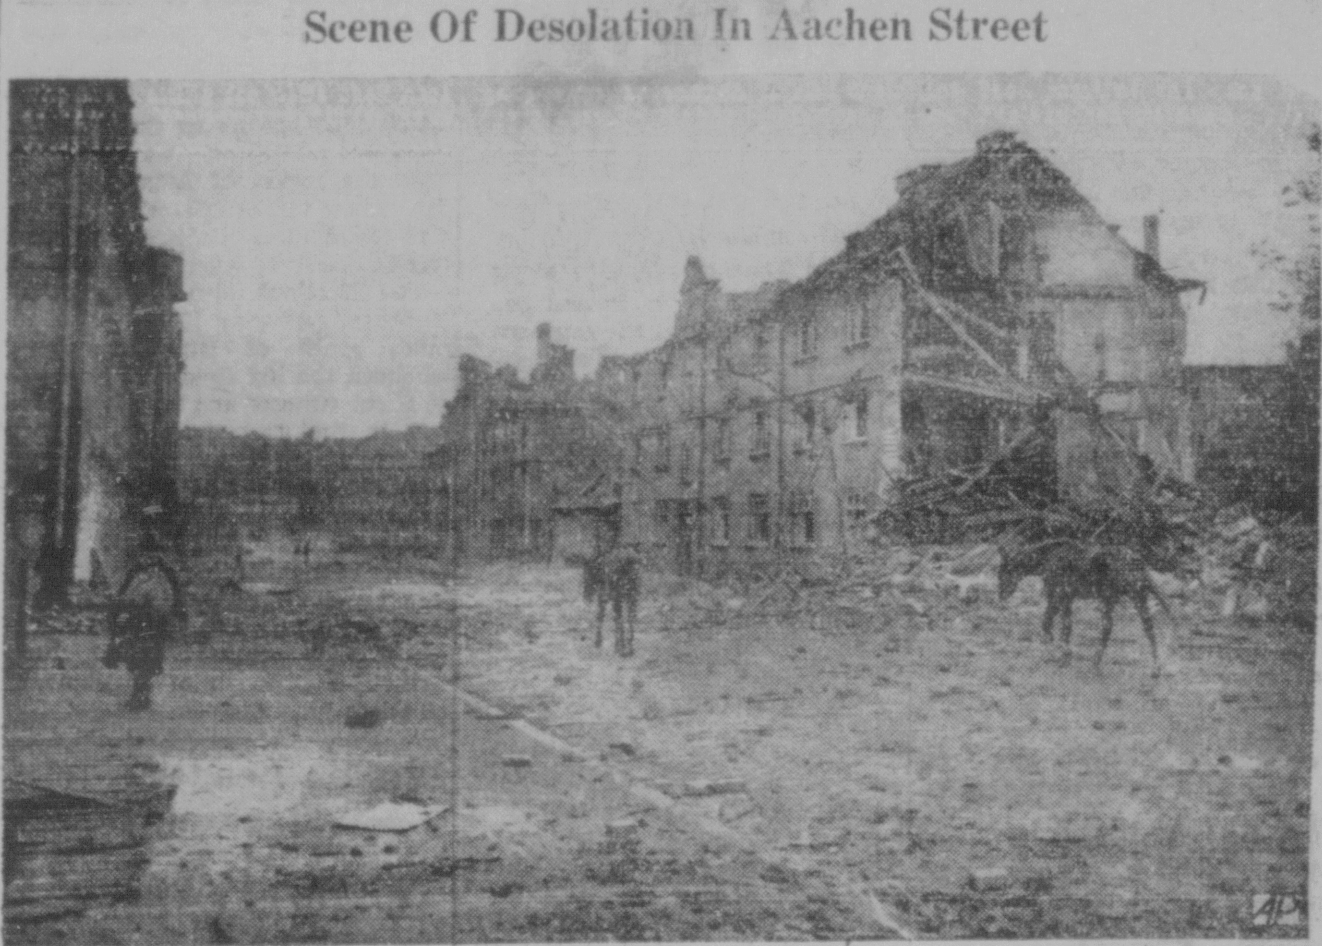

In connection with this activity, Mr. Roosevelt told his news conference yesterday that reputable newspapers are misquoting his statement that he'd have no time for politics in the usual sense this year. They are leaving out an important "except," he said, his promise to go to the people "to correct any misrepresentations."

Consequently he left the inference that his Friday-Saturday trip will be to handle things he regards as misrepresentations made by his Republican opposition.

In addition to his Philadelphia and Chicago speeches, the President will make a train platform speech at Wilmington, Del., Friday morning, will drive to Camden, N. J., during the day and make an automobile tour of the town square, and inspect the Cramp Ship Yards in Philadelphia.

MURRAY TO BROADCAST
Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—A speech that Philip Murray, president of the CIO is expected to make at a dinner of the Central Democratic club of Harrisburg on Nov. 1 will be broadcast by the Pennsylvania Citizens Political Action committee. It was announced today by John A. Phillips, State PAC chairman.

Philadelphia, Oct. 25 (AP)—The thermometer registered 31 degrees early Monday, the coldest Oct. 23 in the history of the Philadelphia weather bureau.

Most of the civilians had fled to the safety afforded behind the American lines. This photo was made by Harry Harris, Associated Press photographer with the wartime still picture pool.

This is an aerial view of the British prefabricated harbor which was set up off the coast of Normandy during the invasion operations in June. In the foreground are Liberty ships at moorings inside the concrete caisson breakwater, which were sunk in a chain-like row to form the perimeter of the harbor. Two floating pier roadways run out from the shore to seven spud piers joined together to form a wharf (center), while other piersways run to LST and barge piers. The harbor is the size of Dover, England, and was towed across the English Channel in sections. By mid-July it was in full operation, sending streams of supplies rolling ashore to the Allied forces fighting the Germans. This is a British official photo.

JAPS SOUGHT TO END INVASION OF PHILIPPINES

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

While details of the sea-air battle off the Philippines between strong Japanese forces and units of Admiral William F. Halsey's U. S. Third Fleet leave much to the imagination, it's clear that a major engagement is under way.

An official communique from Pearl Harbor also indicates that the advantage rests heavily with the American fleet—sweeping Japanese claims notwithstanding.

Whether this may develop into THE great naval engagement for which the world has been waiting remains to be seen. We can at least say that this clash of giants, which began Monday and is continuing, may prove to be the decisive engagement of the Philippine invasion.

Sought Death Blow
The significance of this battle is that the Mikado's forces were aiming to deal a death blow to General MacArthur's invasion of Leyte Island in the heart of the Philippine archipelago. They hoped to destroy the convoys of supplies and troops which are pouring in to him, and then smash the American expedition which already is ashore and getting ahead well with the job of overrunning this strategic key to the whole archipelago.

It's quite on the cards that more than one engagement is raging. Japanese naval forces approached Leyte through both the Sulu and the Sibuyan Seas.

These Nipponese fleets contained powerful units, for Admiral Nimitz's headquarters at Pearl Harbor has announced that the U. S. Third fleet has sunk a large Japanese carrier, and damaged two other large carriers, five or six battleships, one cruiser and several unidentified warships. So the Japs moved a lot of heavy stuff out for the attack.

Complete Confidence
A decisive American victory in this battle would vastly expedite our task of reclaiming the Philippines. The corollary to that must be that it would greatly shorten the war with Japan, for loss of this great archipelago will so divide the Mikado's empire and his conquests that his war effort will be crippled.

Any great engagement naturally creates tense moments for those who are waiting for news back here at home. However, the Allies have every reason for complete confidence in the American fighting forces in the Pacific. Admiral Halsey, upon whose fleet appears to rest the weight of this engagement, is a grand skipper. He's daring but not rash, and is one of the most inspiring leaders of this war.

Not Or Never For Nippon
Actually Halsey's fleet has been hunting the Jap fleet—trying to taunt it into coming out to fight—for a long time. He has dangled innumerable sensational island attacks under the noses of the Nipponese in the hope that he could make 'em mad enough to risk their main fleet in action. Always, of course, while he has been carrying on never for Nippon.

Entomologist Exterminating Nests Of Nazis In Aachen Ruins

By HAL BOYLE
Aachen, Germany, Oct. 17 (Delayed) (AP)—In 1932, Derril M. Daniel was cleaning up the last details of his doctor of philosophy thesis—a little opus entitled: "Macrocentrus Ancylovirus, a Polyembryonic Braconid Parasite of the Oriental Fruit Moth."

"It is a native of New Jersey," dryly observed Lt. Col. Daniel, who now is cleaning up Aachen, first large German city to come under a land attack.

This 39-year-old entomologist turned soldier has done a lot of fighting since he left his research post at the New York state experiment station, Geneva, N. Y., in 1940.

He is a four-time hero. He won the Silver Star and cluster in Tunisia and has added other clusters to this medal for gallantry in action at Troina, Italy, and near Caumont, France.

No Night Attacks
But he has found the mopping up of a town of 160,000 people to be a completely different experience from campaigning in African deserts and the Sicilian hills.

"It was all wide open stuff down there," said Daniel, a light-eyed soldier of medium size who still speaks with the measured drawl of his old home town of Kingstree, S. C.

"We used to attack at night. Here, we cannot do that because these house-to-house battles are a series of closely knit individual engagements. You have to be able to see what you are doing. Otherwise we would kill more of our men than we would of the enemy."

"When we fought in open country we could figure pretty well where we would find resistance. In this city you cannot locate the position of machine gunners or snipers until right on top of them. That makes it harder on the soldiers' nerves."

Grenades for Mouse-holes
"I was a little nervous about this job at first because I did not know whether we had the right solution. But it has worked out well. Our casualties have been low. They come mostly from snipers, hidden in rubble heaps, cellars and windows. All you hear is his gun crack—and you are lucky if he does not get you."

"Using doughboys teamed with tanks and supported by machineguns and mortars, you have to clean out every room in every house and you have to watch to see that they do not sneak back from one house to another through the mouse-holes in the cellar walls."

"We toss a hand grenade through these mouse-holes. That usually stops any nonsense from the other side."

Daniel has rounded up every civilian and moved him out of town, leaving the cleaned-out area without a living soul except his own troops.

Snipers In 'Clives'
"The trouble in the past has come from falling to clean out thoroughly," he said. "If we did not evacuate the civilians, German soldiers in civvy clothing could slip through and start sniping from behind our lines. One of these soldiers might kill from 15 to 20 of our men before we located him—and that would have to be done by going back and cleaning up the town all over again. So far we have not had a man

Daniel likes to shoulder his machine pistol and go up for a workout himself with his forward patrols. He got one German sniper himself. He shot him through a grill from a distance of almost 100 yards.

"Everyone of us should be able at the end of the war to hold up his hand and say he got a German," smiled Daniel. "Well, I can hold up my hand."

RADIO APPEAL BY MACARTHUR

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Oct. 25 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur called on Filipino patriots near the battle lines to harass their Japanese conquerors constantly and cautioned others far from the scene of fighting to await further detailed instructions.

Over the "voice of freedom" radio, now in operation on Levite Island, the general said:

"Seldom has a military commander penetrated an enemy-occupied shore with a greater potential of interior support than that which I today rely upon from the people of the Philippines. It is a (supporting) strength that is measure in values of the spirit. An unconquerable force set to fight the ordeal of war still remains unbroken and defiant. Such a spirit, born of a desire and nurtured upon a determination to be free, inevitably overwhelms material force, however ruthlessly applied, and rises to its height when the hour for liberation strikes.

"That hour has struck. It but remains to guide this great interior force to maximum utilization, without exposing the people to undue and needless sacrifice. I shall, from time to time, promulgate a set of instructions to guide your efforts, relying fully, however, upon your innate common sense to gauge the limitation of your local action."

Government Takes Over Erie Aircraft Plant By Order

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The government today took over the Lord Manufacturing Company of Erie, Pa., through an executive order which said the company boosted prices on a government contract and "willfully refused and failed" to supply war materials under a previously agreed-to price.

The executive order issued from the White House, said the conduct of the company has interfered with the "production and supply of aircraft parts and other essential war materials." It directed Navy Secretary Forrestal to take over and operate the plants to the extent deemed necessary to continue war production.

The order said the secretaries of war and navy issued an order fixing fair and reasonable prices for products of the Lord Manufacturing company in 1943.

Publishers Oppose Government Order

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers Association believes a new government agency to regulate transfer of news dispatches would result in the carrying out of a court order that the Associated Press must make its news report available to any publisher.

The association, comprising both members and non-members of the Associated Press, in a brief filed with the supreme court yesterday opposed the order by a special three-judge court of the southern district of New York.

The publishers group said that if the order stands, "it must be conceded that all other news gathering agencies of every type and description will be compelled to make their property in the form of news dispatches accessible to any one who desires it."

Move To Renew Camp Bus Service

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—Authorities at the Indian town Gap military reservation indicated today that action would be taken to provide bus facilities for soldiers at the Army post after a work stoppage halted service provided by the Capital Bus Company of Harrisburg.

Major Harry W. Schwalm, transportation officer at Indian town, was prepared to use Army buses between Harrisburg and the military post to provide transportation for those men who are leaving, or coming back from furloughs.

Meanwhile A. H. Keeler, international representative of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (AFL) said after a meeting of the employees that the union members decided to "maintain our position" in the dispute.

A company spokesman said that the work stoppage occurred when the company refused to re-hire an operator who had been discharged Sunday. He said that 47 drivers and 12 maintenance men quit work yesterday morning.

Doughboys Clamor For Coffee Powder

With U. S. Infantry Troops in Germany, Oct. 25 (AP)—Frontline doughboys are clamoring for coffee powder in their lunch and supper "K" ration boxes, instead of bouillon and lemonade powder.

A small envelope of powdered coffee in their breakfast box is the only coffee now available for the soldier.

"To hell with bouillon and lemonade," said Tech. Sgt. William Davis of Brunswick, Ga. "How are you going to keep warm at night and stay awake on guard without coffee?"

Meeting Of State Nurses Ends Today

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—Selection of a site for next year's meeting and election of officers for 1945 held the attention of 300 delegates at today's closing session of the Pennsylvania State Nurses Association's annual convention.

The nurses were told yesterday that 10,000 from their profession are needed immediately by the Army and Navy to serve with the armed forces, and older nurses were asked to take over civilian nursing duties to permit the younger graduates to enlist.

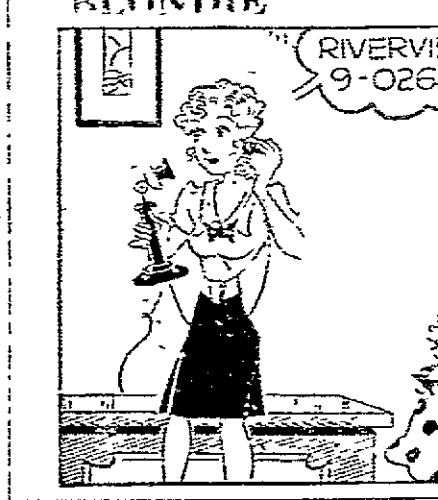

Possible need for an amendment to the Social Security Act was discussed after Edwin B. Romig, of the Harrisburg office of Social Security said that few of the states 50,000 nurses were covered by the act.

Says "Unconditional" Terms Unchanged

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill reiterated in the House of Commons today that "unconditional surrender in the sense of no bargaining with the enemy is still the policy of the government."

He suggested the house should bear in mind also the three-power declaration of May 12 to Axis leaders, in which they were warned to quit Germany.

The Prime Minister declined to engage in a foreign affairs debate, declaring it would be unwise to go into details on delicate international matters "on the spur of the moment." There will be an opportunity for debate after his report Friday on his Moscow mission, he said, but added he hoped it would be short.

Landfall

Chapter 12

The rich, tropical smell of sun-baked land and vegetation flowed out to meet the Commodore as the pilot nosed her slowly to her moorings at Balboa. It was an exciting smell, earthy and fragrant as fern, sweet as hot-house flowers, an intoxicating smell to people who had been three weeks at sea without a glimpse of land.

Everyone crowded to the starboard rail to stare and inhale "that earthy, sooty, exciting smell. The lurid glow of the sunset shone like blood on the swaying royal palms, the lush green vegetation, the scarlet lanterns of the hibiscus.

A murmur of disappointment went up as the big shears and oil derricks blotted out everything on the landward side except the shouting, gesticulating negroes waiting to tie up the ship.

Cherry said, "I'll have to pack you a few things, and took the reluctant Terry inside. He sat swinging his legs rebelliously on the spare berth.

"I don't want to sleep in a hotel! I have hotels! Why can't Aunt Julia let me sleep on board, and star with you?"

"Because she doesn't like the noise of the wharf when they're unloading, and I am coming along to see you into bed," Cherry reminded him. "It's only for one night, darling. We go through the Canal early tomorrow."

Cherry was excited, excited, excited. Like everyone else, she told herself, excited because they had passed the first stage of the long journey home, because this was land, a hot, sun-soaked, intoxicating land.

But Rory King was mixed with her excitement. Just now on deck she had glanced up at the bridge and seen him there, his broad white shoulders and profile outlined against the sky. Rory, wearing his uniform and shoulder tabs with a careless dignity that went straight to her heart. He belonged just there, on the bridge of his ship. She had not attracted his attention, but gone away with another little pleasure to keep in her mind. All unconsciously, she was hoarding these brief impressions, putting them away in a safe, secret place where she would be able to find them in the desolate, empty future when she had left the Commodore.

She had resolved not to spend the evening with Sir Douglas. She was as good as Terry, having the thought of leaving the ship even for a few hours. The ship and Rory. Somehow, by some sea magic, they had become home to her now.

She could feel no desire to explore Panama with anyone but Rory, and Rory would not ask her to go ashore. Passengers might be allowed their eccentric whims, but not officers. She could not imagine him ashore with any woman. He seemed part and parcel of the ship. But that, of course, was absurd; sometimes he must live ashore sometimes he must have women about. Had he a mother? Sisters? Flances? Cherry wondered.

Churchill Visits Cairo And Italy

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill spent a night in Italy enroute home from his Moscow conferences. "The Marshal Stalin," it was announced Monday.

He is expected to report to the House of Commons this week on his conferences with Premier Stalin and other Soviet officials.

On his way home, Churchill stopped at Cairo 24 hours. It was on Monday, for conferences with British Army and Navy leaders selected connected with the prosecution of the war in the Far East.

While details of the conferences were not disclosed, they were described officially as purely military in character.

VALUABLE AT LAST

On Levite Island, Philippines, (Delayed)—Japanese invasion money, worthless to Filipinos in exchange for goods, is bringing good prices from Americans.

The Filipinos were quick to catch on to the souvenir value of the spurious currency and long queues of Americans lined up at shops to purchase it. A two-peso note brought as much as $1 in American money.

RADIO APPEAL BY MACARTHUR

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Oct. 25 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur called on Filipino patriots near the battle lines to harass their Japanese conquerors constantly and cautioned others far from the scene of fighting to await further detailed instructions.

Over the "voice of freedom" radio, now in operation on Leyte island, the general said:

"Seldom has a military commander penetrated a enemy-occupied shore with a greater potential of interior support than that which I today rely upon from the people of the Philippines. It is a (supporting) strength that is measure in values of the spirit. An unconquerable force set to fight the ordeal of war still remains unbroken and defiant. Such a spirit, born of a desire and nurtured upon a determination to be free, inevitably overwhelms material force, however, ruthlessly applied, and rises to its height when the hour for liberation strikes.

Government Takes Over Erie Aircraft Plant By Order

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The government today took over the Lord Manufacturing Company of Erie, Pa., through an executive order which said the company boosted prices on a government contract and "willfully refused and failed" to supply war materials under a previously agreed-to price.

The executive order issued from the White House, said the conduct of the company has interfered with the "production and supply of aircraft parts and other essential war materials." It directed Navy Secretary Forrestal to take over and operate the plants to the extent deemed necessary to continue war production.

The order said the secretaries of war and navy issued an order fixing fair and reasonable prices for products of the Lord Manufacturing company in 1943.

Move To Renew Camp Bus Service

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—Authorities at the Indian Gap military reservation indicated today that action would be taken to provide bus facilities for soldiers at the Army post after a work stoppage halted service provided by the Capitol Bus Company of Harrisburg.

Major Harry W. Schwalm, transportation officer at Indian-town, was prepared to use Army buses between Harrisburg and the military post to provide transportation for those men who are leaving, or coming back from furloughs.

Meanwhile A. H. Keeler, international representative of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (AFL) said after a meeting of the employees that the union members decided to "maintain our position" in the tie-up.

A company spokesman said that the work stoppage occurred when the company refused to re-hire an operator who had been discharged Sunday. He said that 47 drivers and 12 maintenance men quit work yesterday morning.

Meeting Of State Nurses Ends Today

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—Selection of a site for next year's meeting and election of officers for 1945 held the attention of 300 delegates at today's closing session of the Pennsylvania State Nurses Association's annual convention.

The nurses were told yesterday that 10,000 from their profession are needed immediately by the Army and Navy to serve with the armed forces, and older nurses were asked to take over civilian nursing duties to permit the younger graduates to enlist.

Possible need for an amendment to the Social Security Act was discussed after Edwin B. Romig, of the Harrisburg office of Social Security said that few of the state's 50,000 nurses were covered by the act.

Says "Unconditional" Terms Unchanged

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill reiterated in the House of Commons today that "unconditional surrender in the sense of no bargaining with the enemy is still the policy of the government."

He suggested the house should bear in mind also the three-power declaration of May 12 to Axis satellites, in which they were warned to quit Germany.

The Prime Minister declined to engage in a foreign affairs debate, declaring it would be unwise to go into details on delicate international matters "on the spur of the moment." There will be an opportunity for debate after his report Friday on his Moscow mission, he said, but added he hoped it would be short.

WELLES BETTER

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Actor-Producer Orson Welles, ill at his hotel with a throat infection, has "passed all danger, and now it is just a matter of convalescence," Jack Leighter, his manager, announced.

Landfall

Chapter 12

The rich, tropical smell of sun-baked land and vegetation flowed out to meet the Coromandel as the pilot nosed her slowly to her moorings at Balboa. It was an exciting smell, earthy and fragrant as fern, sweet as hot-house flowers, an intoxicating smell to people who had been three weeks at sea without a glimpse of land.

Everyone crowded to the starboard rail to stare and inhale that earthy, subtly exciting smell. The lurid glow of the sunset shone like blood on the swaying royal palms, the lush green vegetation, the scarlet lanterns of the hibiscus.

A murmur of disappointment went up as the big sheds and oil derricks blotted out everything on the landward side except the shouting, gesticulating negroes waiting to tie up the ship.

Cherry said, "I'll have to pack you a few things, and took the reluctant Terry inside. He sat swinging his legs rebelliously on the spare berth.

"I don't want to sleep in a horrid hotel. I hate hotels! Why can't Aunt Julia let me sleep on board, and stay with you?"

"Because she doesn't like the noise of the wharf when they're oiling, and I am coming along to see you into bed," Cherry reminded him. "It's only for one night, darling. We go through the Canal early tomorrow."

Cherry was keyed-up, excited, tonight. Like everyone else, she told herself, excited because they had passed the first stage of the long journey home, because this was land, a hot, sun-soaked, intoxicating land.

But Rory King was mixed with her excitement. Just now on deck she had glanced up at the bridge and seen him there, his broad white shoulders and profile outlined against the sky. Rory, wearing his uniform and shoulder tabs with a careless dignity that went straight to her heart. He belonged just there, on the bridge of his ship. She had not attracted his attention, but gone away with another little picture to keep in her mind. All unconsciously, she was hoarding those brief impressions, putting them away in a safe, secret place where she would be able to find them in the desolate, empty future when she had left the Coromandel.

She had resolved not to spend the evening with Sir Douglas. She was as bad as Terry, hating the thought of leaving the ship even for a few hours. The ship and Rory. Somehow, by some sea magic, they had become home to her now.

She could feel no desire to explore Panama with anyone but Rory, and Rory would not ask her to go ashore. Passengers might be allowed their eccentric whims, but not officers. She could not imagine him ashore with any woman; he seemed part and parcel of the ship. But that, of course, was absurd; sometimes he must take ashore, sometimes he must take women about. Had he a mother? Sisters? Fiancee? Cherry wondered.

how and then, about the women in his life. She couldn't imagine them at all. His manner towards the women on board was courteous, but reserved; he had none of the easy familiarity with women that Pip had.

Either there were no women in his life, or there was one who engrossed all his attention.

She started Terry on his salad, and wondered how she was going to say "no" to Douglas without hurting his feelings tonight.

Julia shrugged her shoulders when Cherry asked if she might walk to the hotel with Terry. She was in a good humor. Tonight she would be in her own element after three weeks of intolerable boredom. She would wear the white Pacquin gown and the emeralds, and the Palm Court of the Wilmington would be a perfect background. She was one of those fortunate women who thrive in a hot climate; her dark hair and olive skin and red lips glowed.

Most of the other women had already wilted in the heat, but Julia had no fears; she could dance and drink and stay up all night, however hot it was, and as long as the lighting was artificial she would look charming.

She was almost sure to meet someone she knew at the Wilmington; it was the haunt of all the British and American officials and officers passing through the Canal Zone. And in any case there would be music and dancing and good food, and she could show that stiff old Captain Brigsom and Gregory King, whom she had invited to the party she was giving at the hotel. It would be amusing to see what the captain and Rory were like ashore, to see whether they left the reserve that had baffled her so far behind with their uniforms.

Cherry, without knowing the cause, was thankful to notice that Julia was in a good mood. Julia kissed Terry playfully and said, "Run along with Miss Mayne then, darling, if you must walk. The car will be pretty full with the Careys, anyway. Don't get too hot."

She added to Cherry, "You can't get lost. The hotel is straight along the waterfront, at the end of the palm drive."

Penn Gets Navy "On The Rebound"

Philadelphia, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Navy is coming here on the rebound, Coach George Menger is telling his University of Pennsylvania football squad.

He told his players they aren't to be "deceived" by the 17-15 score by which Georgia Tech defeated the Middies as the squad worked out for Saturday's sellout game.

Munger has injury problems, also. He has moved freshman Joe Dickerson into the jinxed right guard slot, where Jack Doyle, Jack Sanft and Bob Hedberg have been injured in play. First string center Bob Mostert is suffering from a pulled tendon and may not get into the game.

Churchill Visits Cairo And Italy

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill spent a night in Italy enroute home from his Moscow conferences with Marshal Stalin, it was announced Monday.

He is expected to report to the House of Commons this week on his conferences with Premier Stalin and other Soviet officials.

On his way home, Churchill stopped at Cairo 24 hours, it was disclosed Monday, for conferences with British Army and Navy leaders believed connected with the prosecution of the war in the Far East.

While details of the conferences were not disclosed, they were described officially as purely military in character.

VALUABLE AT LAST

On Leyte Island, Philippines, (Delayed)—Japanese invasion money, worthless to Filipinos in exchange for goods, is bringing good prices from Americans.

The Filipinos were quick to catch on to the souvenir value of the spurious currency and long queues of Americans lined up at ships to purchase it. A two-peso note brought as much as $1 in American money.

Government Takes Over Erie Aircraft Plant By Order

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The government today took over the Lord Manufacturing Company of Erie, Pa., through an executive order which said the company boosted prices on a government contract and "willfully refused and failed" to supply war materials under a previously agreed-to price.

The executive order issued from the White House, said the conduct of the company has interfered with the "production and supply of aircraft parts and other essential war materials." It directed Navy Secretary Forrestal to take over and operate the plants to the extent deemed necessary to continue war production.

The order said the secretaries of war and navy issued an order fixing fair and reasonable prices for products of the Lord Manufacturing company in 1943.

Move To Renew Camp Bus Service

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—Authorities at the Indiantown Gap military reservation indicated today that action would be taken to provide bus facilities for soldiers at the Army post after a work stoppage halted service provided by the Capitol Bus Company of Harrisburg.

Major Harry W. Schwalm, transportation officer at Indiantown, was prepared to use Army buses between Harrisburg and the military post to provide transportation for those men who are leaving, or coming back from furloughs.

Meanwhile A. H. Keeler, international representative of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (AFL) said after a meeting of the employees that the union members decided to "maintain our position" in the tie-up.

A company spokesman said that the work stoppage occurred when the company refused to re-hire an operator who had been discharged Sunday. He said that 47 drivers and 12 maintenance men quit work yesterday morning.

Meeting Of State Nurses Ends Today

Harrisburg, Oct. 25 (AP)—Selection of a site for next year's meeting and election of officers for 1945 held the attention of 300 delegates at today's closing session of the Pennsylvania State Nurses Association's annual convention.

The nurses were told yesterday that 10,000 from their profession are needed immediately by the Army and Navy to serve with the armed forces, and older nurses were asked to take over civilian nursing duties to permit the younger graduates to enlist.

Possible need for an amendment to the Social Security Act was discussed after Edwin B. Romig, of the Harrisburg office of Social Security said that few of the state's 50,000 nurses were covered by the act.

Says "Unconditional" Terms Unchanged

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill reiterated in the House of Commons today that "unconditional surrender in the sense of no bargaining with the enemy is still the policy of the government."

He suggested the house should bear in mind also the three-power declaration of May 12 to Axis satellites, in which they were warned to quit Germany.

The Prime Minister declined to engage in a foreign affairs debate, declaring it would be unwise to go into details on delicate international matters "on the spur of the moment." There will be an opportunity for debate after his report Friday on his Moscow mission, he said, but added he hoped it would be short.

New York, Oct. 25 (AP)—Actor-Producer Orson Welles, ill at his hotel with a throat infection, has "passed all danger, and now it is just a matter of convalescence," Jack Leightner, his manager, announced.

RADIO APPEAL BY MACARTHUR

Gen. MacArthur's Headquarters, Philippines, Oct. 25 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur called on Filipino patriots near the battle lines to harass their Japanese conquerors constantly and cautioned others far from the scene of fighting to await further detailed instructions.

Over the "voice of freedom" radio, now in operation on Leyte Island, the general said:

"Seldom has a military commander penetrated enemy-occupied shores with a greater potential of interior support than that which I today rely upon from the people of the Philippines. It is a (supporting) strength that is measure in values of the spirit. An unconquerable force set to fight the ordeal of war still remains unbroken and defiant. Such a spirit, born of a desire and nurtured upon a determination to be free, inevitably overwhelms material force, however, ruthlessly applied, and rises to its height when the hour for liberation strikes.

"That hour has struck. It but remains to guide this great interior force to maximum utilization, without exposing the people to undue and needless sacrifice. I shall, from time to time, promulgate a set of instructions to guide your efforts, relying fully, however, upon your innate common sense to gauge the limitation of your local action."

Publishers Oppose Government Order

Washington, Oct. 25 (AP)—The American Newspaper Publishers Association believes a new government agency to regulate transfer of news dispatches would result in the carrying out of a court order that the Associated Press must make its news report available to any publisher.

The association, comprising both members and non-members of the Associated Press, in a brief filed with the supreme court yesterday opposed the order by a special three-judge court of the southern district of New York.

The publishers group said that if the order stands, "it must be conceded that all other news gathering agencies of every type and description will be compelled to make their property in the form of news dispatches accessible to any one who desires it."

Doughboys Clamor For Coffee Powder

With U. S. Infantry Troops in Germany, Oct. 25 (AP)—Frontline doughboys are clamoring for coffee powder in their lunch and supper "K" ration boxes, instead of bouillon and lemonade powder.

A small envelope of powdered coffee in their breakfast box is the only coffee now available for the rifleman.

"To hell with bouillon and lemonade," said Tech. Sgt. William Davis of Brunswick, Ga. "How are you going to keep warm at night and stay awake on guard without coffee?"

Chapter 12

The rich, tropical smell of sun-baked land and vegetation flowed out to meet the Coromandel as the pilot nosed her slowly to her moorings at Balboa. It was an exciting smell, earthy and fragrant as fern, sweet as hot-house flowers, an intoxicating smell to people who had been three weeks at sea without a glimpse of land.

Everyone crowded to the starboard rail to stare and inhale that earthy, subtly exciting smell. The lurid glow of the sunset shone like blood on the swaying royal palms, the lush green vegetation, the scarlet lanterns of the hibiscus.

A murmur of disappointment went up as the big sheds and oil derricks blotted out everything on the landward side except the shouting, gesticulating negroes waiting to tie up the ship.

Cherry said, "I'll have to pack you a few things, and took the reluctant Terry inside. He sat swinging his legs rebelliously on the spare berth.

"I don't want to sleep in a horrid hotel. I hate hotels! Why can't Aunt Julia let me sleep on board, and stay with you?"

"Because she doesn't like the noise of the wharf when they're oiling, and I am coming along to see you into bed," Cherry reminded him. "It's only for one night, darling. We go through the Canal early tomorrow."

Cherry was keyed-up, excited, tonight. Like everyone else, she told herself, excited because they had passed the first stage of the long journey home, because this was land, a hot, sun-soaked, intoxicating land.

But Rory King was mixed with her excitement. Just now on deck she had glanced up at the bridge and seen him there, his broad white shoulders and profile outlined against the sky. Rory, wearing his uniform and shoulder tabs with a careless dignity that went straight to her heart. He belonged just there, on the bridge of his ship. She had not attracted his attention, but gone away with another little picture to keep in her mind. All unconsciously, she was hoarding those brief impressions, putting them away in a safe, secret place where she would be able to find them in the desolate, empty future when she had left the Coromandel.

She had resolved not to spend the evening with Sir Douglas. She was as bad as Terry, hating the thought of leaving the ship even for a few hours. The ship and Rory. Somehow, by some sea magic, they had become home to her now.

She could feel no desire to explore Panama with anyone but Rory, and Rory would not ask her to go ashore. Passengers might be allowed their eccentric whims, but not officers. She could not imagine him ashore with any woman; he seemed part and parcel of the ship. But that, of course, was absurd; sometimes he must live ashore, sometimes he must take women about. Had he a mother? Sisters? Fiancee? Cherry wondered.

now and then, about the women in his life. She couldn't imagine them at all. His manner towards the women on board was courteous, but reserved; he had none of the easy familiarity with women that Pip had.

Either there were no women in his life, or there was one who engrossed all his attention.

She started Terry on his salad, and wondered how she was going to say "no" to Douglas without hurting his feelings tonight.

Julia shrugged her shoulders when Cherry asked if she might walk to the hotel with Terry. She was in a good humor. Tonight she would be in her own element after three weeks of intolerable boredom. She would wear the white Pacquin gown and the emeralds, and the Palm Court of the Wilmington would be a perfect background. She was one of those fortunate women who thrive in a hot climate; her dark hair and olive skin and red lips glowed.

Most of the other women had already wilted in the heat, but Julia had no fears; she could dance and drink and stay up all night, however hot it was, and as long as the lighting was artificial she would look charming.

She was almost sure to meet someone she knew at the Wilmington; it was the haunt of all the British and American officials and officers passing through the Canal Zone. And in any case there would be music and dancing and good food, and she could show that stiff old Captain Briggs and Gregory King, whom she had invited to the party she was giving at the hotel. It would be amusing to see what the captain and Rory were like ashore, to see whether they left the reserve that had baffled her so far behind with their uniforms.

Cherry, without knowing the cause, was thankful to notice that Julia was in a good mood. Julia kissed Terry playfully and said, "Run along with Miss Mayne then, darling, if you must walk. The car will be pretty full with the Careys, anyway. Don't get too hot."

She added to Cherry, "You can't get lost. The hotel is straight along the waterfront, at the end of the palm drive."

Penn Gets Navy "On The Rebound"

Philadelphia, Oct. 25 (AP)—The Navy is coming here on the rebound, Coach George Munger is telling his University of Pennsylvania football squad.

He told his players they aren't to be "deceived" by the 17-15 score by which Georgia Tech defeated the Middles as the squad worked out for Saturday's sellout game.

Munger has injury problems, also. He has moved freshman Joe Dickerson into the jinxed right guard slot, where Jack Doyle, Jack Sanft and Bob Hedberg have been injured in play. First string center Bob Mostert is suffering from a pulled tendon and may not get into the game.

Churchill Visits Cairo And Italy

London, Oct. 25 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill spent a night in Italy enroute home from his Moscow conferences with Marshal Stalin, it was announced Monday.

He is expected to report to the House of Commons this week on his conferences with Premier Stalin and other Soviet officials.

On his way home, Churchill stopped at Cairo 24 hours. It was disclosed Monday, for conferences with British Army and Navy leaders believed connected with the prosecution of the war in the Far East.

While details of the conferences were not disclosed, they were described officially as purely military in character.

VALUABLE AT LAST On Leyte Island, Philippines, (Delayed)—Japanese invasion money, worthless to Filipinos in exchange for goods, is bringing good prices from Americans.

The Filipinos were quick to catch on to the souvenir value of the spurious currency and long queues of Americans lined up at ships to purchase it. A two-peso note brought as much as $1 in American money.

U. S. NEEDS FOR SAYS LAGUARDIA

Pittsburgh, Oct. 23 (AP)—The American people must re-elect President Roosevelt, New York's Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia believes, because "we are in the midst of war" and "there must not be a minute's interruption of that leadership."

"We have won one war under the leadership of President Roosevelt," he said in a prepared campaign address here last night, and added: "we have three more to win."

Speaking at Carnegie music hall under the auspices of the Independent voters for Roosevelt, Mayor La Guardia said the first of the four wars was that against depression, and "is already won."

The second, he said, was against the Japanese and the Germans. "The war isn't over," he added. "That is why there must not be a change."

La Guardia said the third war was that "for the peace, the war, for establishing justice in the world." He continued:

"The fourth war is one that concerns you and me, the war for economic security—security translated into a clean, decent place to live, food for the family, the chance for an education."

An Announcement of interest to every motor car owner

When the war is decisively won—and gasoline restrictions are lifted . . .

SUNOCO DYNAFUEL

MADE SPECIALLY FOR AUTOMOBILES

will be the name of Sun Oil Company's new postwar fuel for motor cars

The end of gasoline rationing may still be a long way off

Bomb raids over Germany must be continued until the Nazis surrender unconditionally. Then activities in the Pacific must be increased to speed up Victory against the Japs. Large quantities of petroleum will be required.

While the supply of civilian gasoline may be increased after the defeat of Germany, a considerable time may elapse before the demands of the armed forces will permit conversion of aviation fuel plants to the making of civilian gasoline.

Improved motor fuel made possible
by wartime discoveries

Early in the war, through the development of new processes and plants, the engineers of Sun Oil Company produced the concentrate, Dynafuel, which has so materially increased the quality and quantity of our aviation gasoline. When military demands cease, these same advanced Sun Oil Company refineries will be converted to the manufacture of a new and greatly improved automobile fuel . . . and the name Sunoco Dynafuel will then be applied to this postwar product.

Postwar Sunoco Dynafuel will be designed especially for automobiles

When the war is decisively won and gasoline restrictions are lifted—then Sunoco Dynafuel will be a super powered fuel designed especially for use in automobiles—by far the finest motor car fuel we have ever made.

Remember that name Sunoco Dynafuel. Some day when you are again able to drive into your Sunoco station and say "fill 'er up" you're going to experience the greatest driving thrills you ever had.

The soldier said he "got to thinking" and decided he had voted for the wrong man. He didn't say which candidate that was. His request was turned down because the state law requires war ballots be deposited in a locked box and not opened until election day.

When the war is decisively won—
and gasoline restrictions are lifted . . .

SUNOCO

MADE SPECIALLY FOR AUTOMOBILES

will be the name of Sun Oil Company's
new postwar fuel for motor cars

The end of gasoline rationing may still be a long way off

Bomb raids over Germany must be continued until the Nazis surrender unconditionally. Then activities in the Pacific must be increased to speed up Victory against the Japs. Large quantities of petroleum will be required.

While the supply of civilian gasoline may be increased after the defeat of Germany, a considerable time may elapse before the demands of the armed forces will permit conversion of aviation fuel plants to the making of civilian gasoline.

Improved motor fuel made possible
by wartime discoveries

Early in the war, through the development of new processes and plants, the engineers of Sun Oil Company produced the concentrate, Dynafuel, which has so materially increased the quality and quantity of our aviation gasoline. When military demands cease, these same advanced Sun Oil Company refineries will be converted to the manufacture of a new and greatly improved automobile fuel . . . and the name Sunoco Dynafuel will then be applied to this postwar product.

Postwar Sunoco Dynafuel will be designed especially for automobiles

When the war is decisively won and gasoline restrictions are lifted—then Sunoco Dynafuel will be a super powered fuel designed especially for use in automobiles—by far the finest motor car fuel we have ever made.

Remember that name Sunoco Dynafuel. Some day when you are again able to drive into your Sunoco station and say "fill 'er up" you're going to experience the greatest driving thrills you ever had.

U. S. NEEDS FDR SAYS LAGUARDIA

Pittsburgh, Oct. 23 (AP)—The American people must re-elect President Roosevelt, New York's Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia believes, because "we are in the midst of war" and "there must not be a minute's interruption of that leadership."

"We have won one war under the leadership of President Roosevelt," he said in a prepared campaign address here last night, and added: "we have three more to win."

Speaking at Carnegie music hall under the auspices of the Independent voters for Roosevelt, Mayor La Guardia said the first of the four wars was that against depression, and "is already won."

The second, he said, was against the Japanese and the Germans. "The war isn't over," he added. "That is why there must not be a change."

La Guardia said the third war was that "for the peace, the war, for establishing justice in the world." He continued:

"The fourth war is one that concerns you and me, the war for economic security—security translated into a clean, decent place to live, food for the family, the chance for an education."
